STUDENT LIFE

Summer trips take students around world

Taking advantage of the summer months, students travelled in the United States and abroad.

Lisa McElroy, Debbie Thompson, and Kim Thompson took a raft trip down the rapids of the Colorado River while Julie Smith, Kimberly Cosby, Nell Acker, and Kelly and Terri Cunningham vacationed in the Hawaiian islands.

Other students on a trip sponsored by their church participated in a service project to renovate poverty-stricken areas in Mobile, Alabama.

Leaving the North American continent, wanderers were attracted by faraway destinations. Nancy Adin and Shannon Wilson toured Norway, Sweden, and Denmark, while Beth Kelly, Janelle Jones and Luellen Jones cruised the Mediterranean, visiting Greece, Egypt, Israel, and Turkey. Probably the most widely-travelled local student this year was Whit Davis, who circumnavigated the globe during his vacation months.

Other students spent the summer as camp counselors. Catherine Cantwell worked at a Muscular Dystrophy camp in Athens, Texas, where she won an award as an outstanding counselor. Suzanna Hart, Sara Stevenson, Jana Williams and Steve Forest did volunteer work at a day camp.

South-of-the-border flavors were on the daily menu for Chris Keller, Laurie Huck, and Casey Krebs, who worked at a Mexican restaurant.

Improving their tennis performance, Ellen Hall, Barbara Paschall, Delaney Lancaster, Louis and Vicki Hexter signed up for professional lessons at a tennis camp in Carmel, California.

Hi-lite offers rounded out the summer with a Western-style picnic to welcome new students and incoming freshmen to the new year.

Spirit ascends with buttons at year's start

Bumper stickers and "Scots got pride" buttons emphasized the spirit demonstrated by students as the football season got off to a good start in early September.

Spirit was boosted at the games by the cheerleaders' use of a new portable public address system.

At the "Beginnings" dance following the first football game, seniors Florence Baldwin and Johnny Delatour, juniors Tori Thomas and Bart Irby, sophomores Camille Musolino and Dean Miller, and freshmen Ellen Wiggins and Tod Farrell received the title of class "friendliest."

Spirit committee members had their first caravan September 24 to the MacArthur football game. They formed a spirit line and cheered their team on to victory.

Students joined interest clubs, elected officers, and planned programs. Highland Park graduate Hunter Farrell gave a program on his summer experience in Chile during the first meeting of the American Field Service. Sharon Sigler played the piano, and Craig Arps pounded the drums, while Louis Hexter, Bart Irby, and Shelley Brant sang during a Hi-Lite assembly.

Advisories elected their homeroom representatives, who were then appointed to committees by the Student Council officers.

In late September the Lads and Lassies choir held their annual picnic at Winfrey Point. Members dressed as cowboys and cowgirls for the "western" theme.

Seniors Debbie Baze and Scott Davis received the encouraging news that they had won a $1,250 per year scholarship for four years from Texas A&M University.

Semifinalists get recognition for high scores

Twenty-one Hi Park seniors attained semifinalist standing in the 1977 National Merit scholarship competition, becoming the second largest group in Highland Park history to receive this honor.

Scoring in the top half of one percent of all seniors nationwide on the 1975 Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, these students were among 15,000 achieving semifinalist rank.

Students named as semifinalists were Michael Barry, Courtenay Bass, Deborah Baze, Catherine Cantwell, Dianne Carlson, Gary Cooper, Ruth Copeland (the highest scorer in the state of Texas), Scott Davis, Dorothy Dickson, Jon Dickson, Philip Franklin, Laura Hanley, Jack Hanneman, Marcia Haynes, Chris Hewitt, Drake Jackman, Pat Rice, Robert Ruff, Shannon Sayles, Mark Srere, and Lynne Withers.

Scoring in the top two percent of the country's seniors taking the test, 20 Scots received Letters of Commendation for their achievement. With the girls outnumbering the boys almost two to one, the commendees were Anne Aldredge, Anne Badgett, Mara Boto, Bob Bullington, Elizabeth Cantwell, Susan Cregor, Ron Gjemre, Suzanna Hart, Betsy Hochstim, David Hodge, Jimmy Johnston, John McKnight, David Mills, Mike McNamara, Delaney Murchison, Becky Rainwater, Kira Rathjen, Sharon Sigler, Katie Stocks, and Marsha Thompson.

Seniors work for candidates in national vote

With national elections drawing near, many students became actively involved in the campaigns of the presidential candidates. Seniors worked at the headquarters of their choice for credit in government classes while students from all grades supported their candidates by distributing campaign literature throughout the Park Cities.

Several students obtained permission to leave school to hear Governor Jimmy Carter speak at the Fairmont Hotel, and other students had the opportunity to meet President Gerald Ford at a luncheon preceding the Texas-OU football game.

Students exercised their local voting rights, electing Susan Aston as Highland Park's Miss Flame, and Allison Beall as Miss Flame for University Park. Their reign required them to participate in a beauty pageant and a parade during Fire Prevention Week.

College and university representatives from all over the nation presented their schools to the students on College Night, an annual P-TA sponsored event designed to assist students in their college choices.

Twenty-one National Merit semi-finalists numbered second highest in the history of the school while another 20 high scorers received commendee ranking. These senior students had qualified for this honor by taking a national test their junior year.

American Field Service held its annual talent show with the first prize going to Dawn Lallier and Eddie Coker for their guitar and song act. Richard Sparr and Janie Fulgham emceed the show, playing the roles of Sonny and Cher.

Senior privileges got off to an earlier-than-usual start, and the tennis team traveled to Garland to win the invitational tournament.

Homecoming, with its theme of "The Long and Winding Road," provided dance music by "Flight" in the girls' gym after the North Mesquite game. Lee Brown was crowned Homecoming Queen.

Queen crowned by SC president at Homecoming

Three points made all the difference in the mood of the crowd at the Homecoming dance. A squeaky 3-0 victory over North Mesquite produced a gasp of relief from Scot fans as a fourth-quarter score on a muddy field kept the Scots in the race for the district title.

During half-time at the game, the Homecoming Queen nominees were driven around the field in convertibles and introduced to the crowd with their fathers. After the game, everyone walked to the girls' gym and danced until midnight to the music of "Flight."

The theme of "The Long and Winding Road" was depicted by a giant mural covering the south wall. On the painting, a winding road led to a bright castle in the horizon. Shining clouds with the nominees' names surrounded the throne.

Dancing stopped at eleven for the crowning of the queen. The nominees were escorted down "The Long and Winding Road" to their favorite songs. Student Council President Mark Srere crowned Lee Brown the 1976 Homecoming Queen, and the dance continued for another hour.

Early winter brings snow for cold wars

Dreams of a white Thanksgiving materialized briefly but melted along with recordbreaking snow which fell early in November. The fluffy white stuff measured almost five inches, more than any other early snowfall in 70 years.

Eligible seniors voted in the National elections November 3, with some students becoming actively involved in campaigns through their government classes or in community programs. Juniors held their own elections with Jeff Barnes winning president; Cissy Hudson, vice-president; Julie Worthen, secretary; and Leslie Little, treasurer.

The Man Who Came To Dinner, presented by senior drama students November 3, 4, 5, and 6, showed ticket sales surpassing the number sold in any of the last four years. Lead roles were held by Richard Sparr playing Sheridan Whiteside, and Shannon Sayles, who portrayed his secretary, Maggie Cutler. John Buckley, Carol Cleaver, Richard Johnson, Debbie Kirby, and Doug Webb assumed other major parts.

Highlander band members journeyed to Salado, Texas for the annual "Gathering of the Clans." Three Lassies received awards for distinction in dancing and piping. The Hi-Park band received coverage of their marching drills on ABC television.

Fans followed their victorious football team to Texas Stadium for bi-district play-offs, and then to the Cotton Bowl for the regional game.

The fall Hi-Lite dance was a costume party with a sports theme. Students came dressed for their favorite sport to see Sam Manning crowned as Hi-Lite King. David Gowdey, Bobby Day, John Ede, Richard Sparr, and Rusty Combes were the other nominees for the title.

Senior class produces play for large crowd

Apparel, hair-styles, and make-up of the 1940's helped to recreate an era for the senior class in their production of The Man Who Came To Dinner.

Paris originals, pompadours, and red lipstick added to the effect of the play, as crewheads Diane Crow and Carole Berger took charge of wardrobe and make-up. Old-fashioned furniture, including a wooden wheelchair arranged in a war-time decorated set, was provided by the set, stage, and prop crews headed by Lissie Miller, Cindi Miller, Renee Downs, and Valerie Yandell.

Shannon Sayles and Richard Sparr assumed the leading roles. Other major roles included John Buckley, Carol Cleaver, Richard Johnson, Debbie Kirby, and Doug Webb. Cynthia Ruff and Amy Loftis were double-cast in one part, while Diane Carlson and Claire Shelmire shared another role. With his natural accent, AFS student Michael Middlemann played the part of an Englishman. The cast consisted of 32 members, with the whole production requiring the assistance of 90 seniors.

Sherry Thompson, a drama major from North Texas State University, served as technical director in charge of all crews. Stage-managers Cynthia Mahaffey and Joan Hodges aided director Mrs. Linda Raya during the six weeks of lengthy evening rehearsals.

More tickets were sold this year than in the past four years. A total audience of about 1,200 attended the three evening performances November 3, 4, and 6 and a Friday afternoon performance squeezed in between the close of school and a night football game.

Balloons fly to raise spirit at half-time

Disappointed skiers found that many of the annual Colorado trips planned for the Christmas holidays were cancelled due to the lack of snow. The ski gear received as gifts was put in storage with hopes of next year's snow-covered peaks.

Basketball pre-district games and the football quarter-final contest crowded the sports schedule for Scot fans in early December.

By winning first place in the regional meet, the girls' cross country track team earned the right to travel to Austin for the state meet.

Lads and Lassies raised funds for their trip to Galveston by selling Christmas cards, candy, and candles. Choir members held their annual spaghetti dinner, with entertainment to accompany their meal.

School assemblies featured new styles and fashion ideas. Hi-Lites staged a fashion show and had a make-up artist who advised girls on hair cuts and cosmetics. A Christmas fashion show by a Tri-Hi-Y group raised money for charity.

Highlander editorial and business staff members hosted their annual Christmas dinner at Susan Aston's house. Thespians were initiated at a ceremony and dinner during the Christmas season at the home of Shelley Brandt.

Student Council members sponsored a drive to donate toys for the Salvation Army and invited donors to a free assembly on a Friday before the holidays.

Advanced speech students performed original and traditional programs for underprivileged children and elderly adults. Advanced drama classes wrote their own Christmas plays, which they performed for children at day-care centers, nursery schools, and children's hospitals.

Adopted Scots spend year with families

American Field Service exchange students Nena Kopcavar, from Yugoslavia, and Michael Middelmann, from South Africa arrived in Texas to be adopted Scots for the 1976-77 school year.

American Field Service members raised the money needed to support Nena and Michael through the sales of AFS bonds, Valentine carnations, and admission to assemblies given throughout the year, including the AFS talent show.

Nena lived with Karen Johnson and Michael stayed with Tori and Stewart Thomas.

Nena, an enthusiastic student, enjoyed gymnastics, hiking, skiing, and dancing. Although she learned fluent English during her stay, Nena said that, "School is harder here than in Yugoslavia because I have trouble with the language."

Michael, whose favorite sports are sailing and soccer, planned to return to Capetown, South Africa, and attend college there. He enjoyed meeting people and making things with his hands.

Michael felt that, "The education in America is equal with that in South Africa except the curriculum is a bit more varied here."

Hunter Farrell and Lucy Smith, 1976 Highland Park graduates, ventured abroad through the AFS program.

Hunter spent the summer living with a family in Chile and returned in the fall to present an assembly relating his experiences to Highland Park students. Lucy took a year off and spent the summer with a family in Denmark.

Snow causes long weekend in January

A snowless Christmas became a white New Year as students were granted a long weekend early in January due to freezing weather.

January 10 began rehearsals for the musical Oklahoma! with a cast of 40 members practicing four nights a week for three hours. The fruits of their labors were seen in three grand performances March 24-26.

All-Regional Choir members Marilyn Roark, Carol Cleaver, Mimi Vornholt, and Louis Hexter performed with the choir January 29 at Pierce High School in Richardson.

The Student Council Executive Committee voted to impeach president Mark A. Srere January 3. On December 17, 1976, Mark dressed up for an unapproved "50's Day," and was suspended for it. The charge of neglect of duty was presented to the entire Student Council, but the hearing January 24 resulted in an acquittal.

The speech team travelled to the Bishop Dunne tournament and returned with sweepstakes honors and several trophies. Late in January, the speech team participated in the Bryan Adams tourney and came in in sixth place in competition with 70 other schools in the Dallas-Ft. Worth area.

At the Scots' annual football banquet January 19, both Rob Boyle and Greg Sims were awarded the "Forgotten Lineman" title. Rusty Combes was named "Fight'nest Scot," while Scott Smith received the honor of "Most Conscientious Scot."

Texas skies bring changes unexpectedly

Unpredictable Texas weather kept its reputation during February as students were seen sunbathing and bundling-up in the same week.

Valentine's Day was brightened by the American Field Service, which sold a breathtaking 10,225 carnations to students to be delivered first period with personalized cards.

With exams rolling around once again, students were pleased with an extra day of review since exams were delayed one day to make up for a "snow day" lost in early January.

Assemblies draw crowds, raise money

Several assemblies filled advisory periods in February as pep rallies grew few and far between. As a money-raising project for the Highlander Band the Dallas Tornado Soccer team challenged the girls' Varsity volleyball team to a volleyball game with the Tornadoes using only their heads and feet. They also played a short game against the Varsity soccer team and signed autographs for adoring fans.

The annual Leo Club Ping Pong Tournament turned out to be a "battle of the sexes" for Rick Jones and Carolyn Bettis who fought for the title. Margie McGrew was crowned Ping Pong Queen at the end of this assembly.

Rehearsals for the musical Oklahoma fell into full swing for cast members during February to prepare for opening night March 20.

Spirit squads lead cheers, support teams

"We've tried to make changes to improve pep rallies and cheering at the games," declared head Varsity cheerleader Carolyn Bettis, commenting on innovations put into effect by the cheering squads.

Initiating new ideas to boost school spirit, all the cheerleaders worked to put variety into their activities.

Freshmen, B-Team, and Varsity cheerleaders held a car wash to raise money for a new public address system to unify cheers at football games. For the first time, two Friday afternoon pep rallies and spirit lines formed on the field at the beginning of football games urged the players on toward the first district win in 20 years. The cheerleaders collaborated with the Spirit Committee to hold pep rallies at the caravan buses before out-of-town games.

With the help of new sponsor Mrs. Elysia Holt, Varsity cheerleaders Carolyn Bettis, Lee Brown, John Ede, David Gowdey, Kelly Hall, Sam Manning, Betsy Snoots, and Richard Sparr also worked with some of the more traditional cheers requested by the coaches.

B-Team cheerleaders Mary Anne Bell, Carolyn Wagner, Mary Ann Pitman, Kaki Roach, Charlotte Turner, and Carolyn Wagner promoted Junior Varsity spirit; and freshmen Amy Aldredge, Laurie Dunlap, Vicki Hexter, Susan Jones, Marcie Kirby, Lynn Mount, Anne Snider, and Alison Stone cheered the ninth grade on to a football district tie.

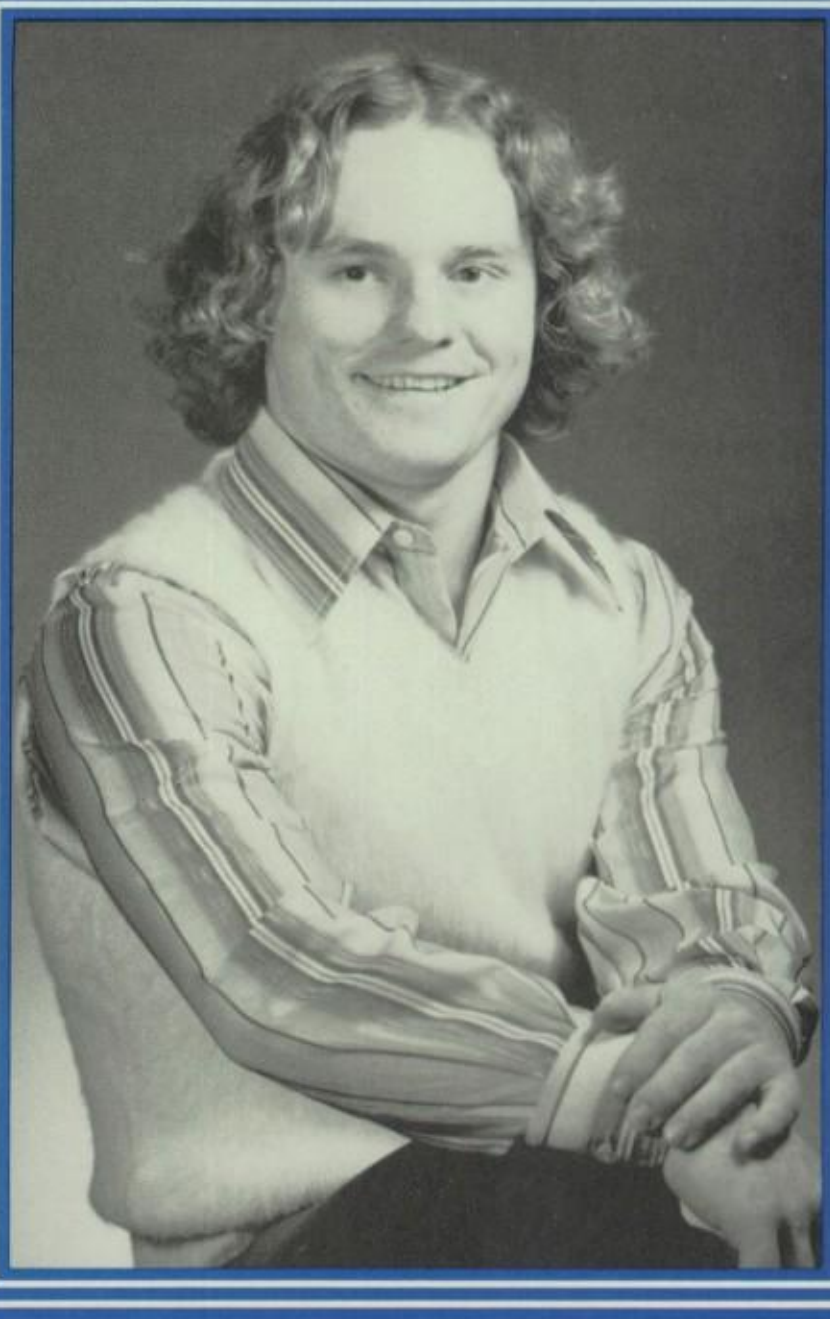
Selected in a December school-wide election, eight students were chosen as favorites on the basis of personality and achievement. Running back Marc Snyder was named all-district and regional Offensive Player of the Year by both The Dallas Times Herald and The Dallas Morning News. He was also named to all-district, regional, 10-AAAA coaches' and all-state first teams.



Marc Snyder

Carolyn Bettis

Head Varsity Cheerleader Carolyn Bettis was nominated for Homecoming Queen and was a freshman cheerleader. A member of the Student Council for four years, Carolyn served as captain of the tennis team her junior year. Homecoming Queen Lee Brown boosted spirit as a B-team and Varsity cheerleader. Lee was also a member of Hi-Lites and Thespians. Fullback Bobby Day was a football team captain, receiving 10-AAAA coaches' and regional Honorable Mention distinctions. A Leo Club member, Bobby was a Hi-Lite King nominee.

Hall of Fame membership was awarded to students for exceptional accomplishment in the Student Council Spirit Committee, Highlander, and Bagpipe staffs.

The sponsors of each of these organizations chose the students in February, and the results were revealed in May with the distribution of the Highlander.

Maximum Officer's Awards were given to the president, vice-president, and secretary of the Student Council, and to the co-editors and co-business managers of the Bagpipe and Highlander. Other students won gold, silver, and bronze "H's" for their outstanding contributions to an organization.

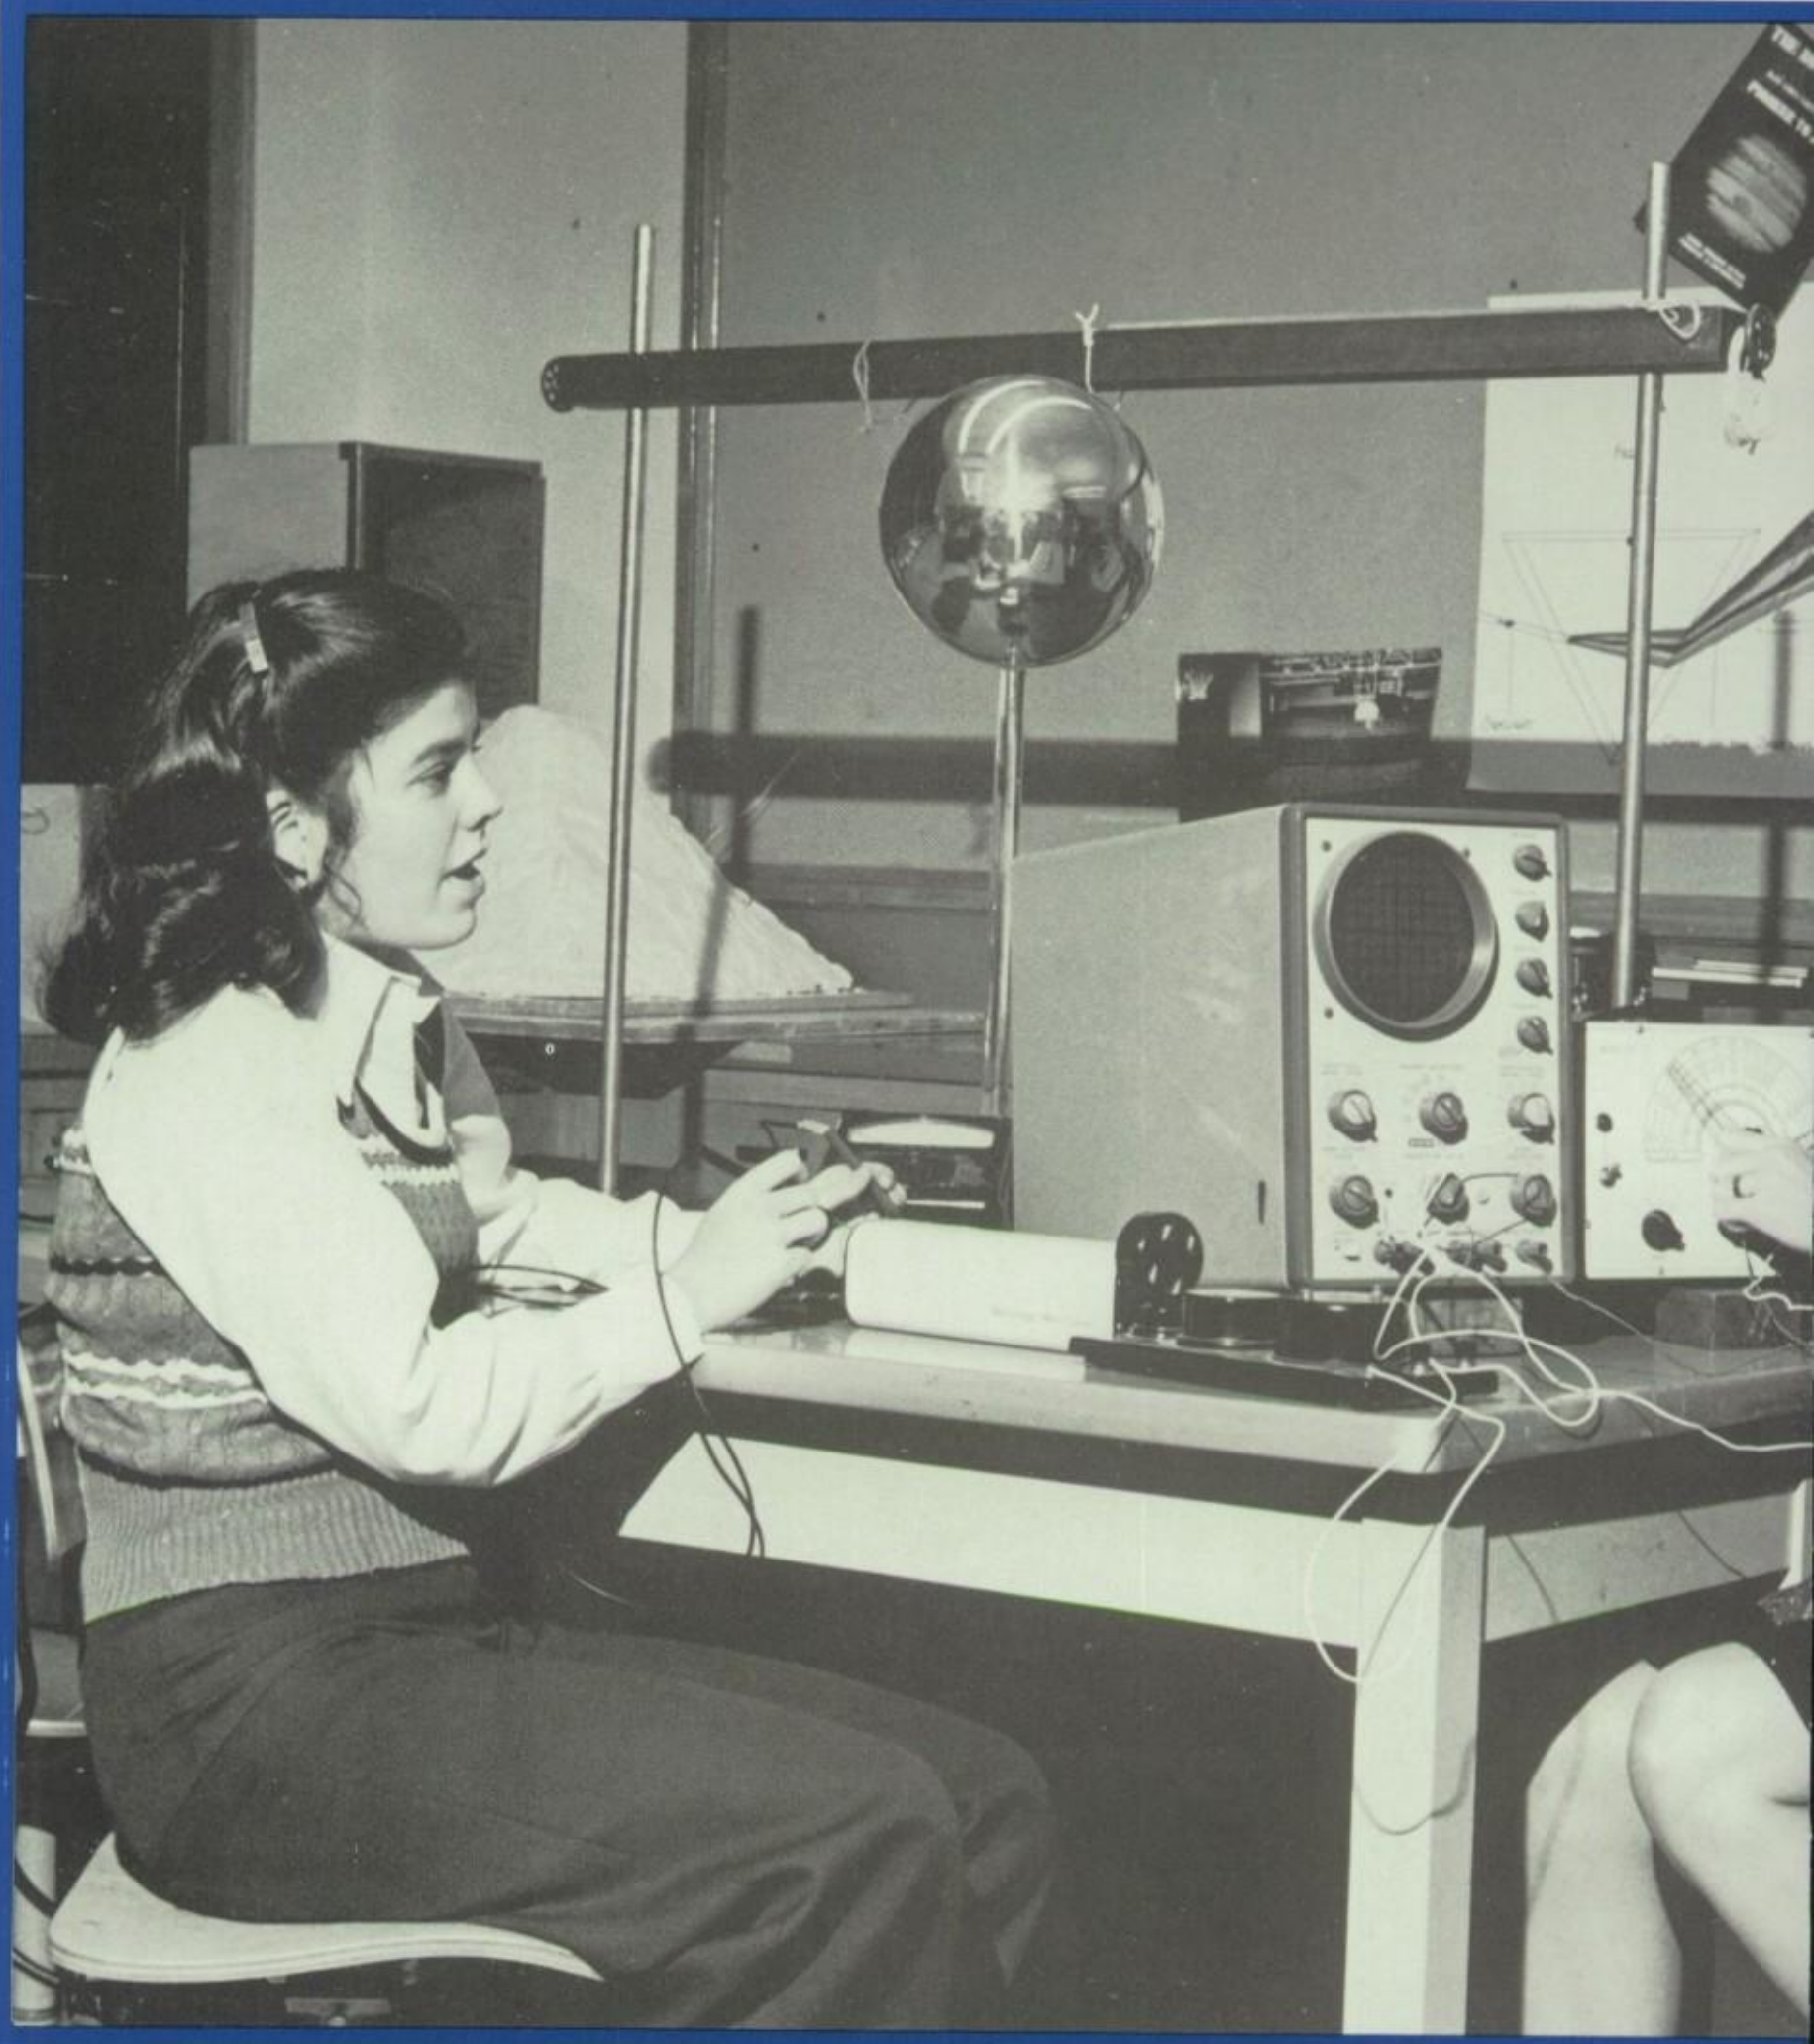
ABSTRACTION



LIGHT WAVE EXPERIMENTS challenge students Catherine Simpson and Michelle Pringle.

Representing the top half of one percent of the nation's high school graduating class, 21 seniors were named National Merit Semi-Finalists. Hi Park ranked first in the metroplex in number of semi-finalists per school while 20 other HP students received Letters of Commendation.

ACADEMICS

Building plans main interest for principal

Finalizing architectural contracts was a primary interest on the administrators' agenda during the 1976-77 school year.

Plans for the high school's "facelift" included a student commons area, and improved athletic facilities. Funds for this project were provided by a school bond issue passed last spring.

Principal Dr. E. A. Sigler served as chairman of the Committee on Accountability for the Texas Association of Secondary School Principals working to develop legislation.

Dr. Sigler received a doctorate in education from North Texas State University, where he also received bachelor of science, and master of education degrees. At the University of the South, he majored in chemistry and acquired a master's in arts and teaching.

Seminars aid administrators in procedure

Seminars and workshops enabled Assistant Principals Mr. Ron Geyer and Mr. Ernie Ritter to expand their knowledge of administrative procedures.

Mr. Ritter attended a conference on alternative schooling, where the topics of regional schooling were discussed. Mr. Ron Geyer traveled to Austin for a two-day workshop held by the Texas Association of Secondary School Principals. In addition to studying new proposed educational legislation and truancy laws, Mr. Geyer attended a "brainstorming" session with assistant principals from Texas high schools of approximately the same size as Highland Park. Common problems and solutions were discussed to give the administrators ideas for their own districts.

Mr. Ritter, after having received his bachelor's degree and master's degree from Arizona State, attended the University of Texas at Austin to receive his administration certificate. Sponsor for the Junior class, Mr. Ritter was responsible for grades 9 and 11. Computer services, including all grade reporting, attendance, and scheduling kept Mr. Ritter busy, and he also headed up the yearly calendar. New projects he led included the revision of labeling on records and transcripts to help speed up office procedures.

Mr. Geyer received his bachelor of science degree from Southwest Texas University, and his master's from the University of Texas at Austin. In his first year as assistant principal, Mr. Geyer was responsible for all student activities in grades 10 and 12, including all graduation and commencement ceremonies. Acting as the administrative consultant to all clubs and organizations, Mr. Geyer also oversaw attendance records, eligibility, and new enrollees.

Subject assignments were reassigned this year between the assistant principals to distribute the teacher observation responsibilities more evenly. Each assistant principal worked with several departments.

School board plans building of gymnasium

Committing themselves to the improvement of the programs and facilities of Highland Park schools, School Board members worked on the allocation of a 6.8 million dollar bond issue passed in April of 1976.

The school board designated 2.9 million dollars for high school renovations and additions as well as outside cleaning of the building. Construction of a multi-purpose gymnasium was planned to be built adjacent to the boys' gym. The new structure included facilities for weightlifting, gymnastics, volleyball, and physical education programs. Money was also allocated for the repair of existing facilities.

The girls' dressing room and the band room were to be expanded and renovated, while carpet and improved lighting in the halls were also considered.

Planning and approving the construction of "Park A" was also of major concern. This 4.71 acre lot, located several blocks from the high school at University Blvd. and Lomo Alto, would provide a 440-yard track facility for high school use. The project was approved jointly with the City of University Park after months of negotiation.

The 1976-77 School Board members were: Mr. Walter M. Spradley, president; Dr. Elgin W. Ware, Jr., vice president; Mrs. Robert S. Bush, secretary; Mr. Trevor Rees-Jones, finance officer; Mr. Arthur Z. Barnes, Mr. John E. Eisenlohr, and Mr. Darrell Lafitte.

Teacher leads class with gun in Western way

As summer vacation finally rolled around, the faculty proved as anxious to get away, see new sights, and generally enjoy their summer as any eager high school student.

"See America First" was the bi-centennial-year slogan of many teachers who ventured to different parts of the United States. Camping and the sheer beauty of Colorado attracted Mrs. William Burdett, Mrs. H. N. Forman, and Mrs. Bud Collier, while the Florida sunshine and beaches captured Miss Nancy Duncan's attention. Visiting relatives was the objective of Mrs. Evelyn Dykstra and Mrs. Rae Ann Roeder, who both traveled to Indiana with this goal.

For a little variety to the regular scene, Miss Diane Cook, Mrs. Katherine Norman, and Miss Cathy Orr headed for the more exotic lifestyle of Hawaii. Other faculty members' United States vacations ranged from Miss Sharon Hooper's stay in California and Coach Cecil Holmes' trip to Alabama to Mrs. Ann White's travels to Providence, Rhode Island.

Several teachers discovered that Europe was their oyster this summer. Mrs. Elysia Holt spent five weeks backpacking in Europe, and Mrs. Debra Heflich escorted eight Highland Park students on a school-sponsored tour through many European sights.

Among the other Europe-bound faculty members were Miss Claire King, who toured England, France, and Italy, and Mrs. Henry Hubbard, who visited Germany and Switzerland.

Sponsor of the travel club Mrs. Chester Plumlee traveled to Pakistan, Afghanistan, Russia, and Iran to gather information, slides, and experience to aid her in teaching Asian Studies and World History.

Stay-at-home teachers taught summer school and spent their vacation relaxing around the house and, as Mrs. Carolyn Brown put it, "Recuperating from the school year!"

Interests and leisure-time activities of faculty members turned out to be as varied as their personalities. Teachers' interests ranged from motorcycling to working puzzles.

Many teachers discovered a flair for creative arts. Assistant principal Ron Geyer and Mrs. Betty Guest were among several who enjoyed doing macrame work. Needlepoint was a favorite leisure pastime of Mrs. Ethyl Forman and Miss Lynne Logue, and Mrs. Ida Mae Hubbard and Mrs. Lorna Griffin did crewel stitchery. Mrs. Clorene Barrett, Mrs. Danny McElroy and Mrs. Linda Raya enjoyed watching theater performances.

Other faculty members pursued varied athletic activities. Mrs. Joe Snodgrass bowled, Mrs. Gail Watkins learned to fly, and Mrs. Rae Ann Roeder and Mr. Tom Shelton perfected their tennis techniques. Mr. Jim Mouser hunted deer, and Mr. Jimmy D. Lee kayaked the Guadalupe river. Water sports provided a getaway for Miss Eileen Steensen and Mr. Jim Wheat.

Out-of-doors fans use green thumb, take fishing trips

Several teachers were avid amateur gardeners. Mrs. Carolyn Brown achieved success in growing African violets, and assistant principal Ernie Ritter battled crabgrass and chinch bugs in the quest for an unblemished green lawn.

Animal-lover Mrs. Rebecca Farris raised four pet white mice. Miss Nancy Duncan trained her Labrador at nearby city parks.

Teachers kept busy during the summer by attending schools and seminars or by just relaxing.

Several teachers took courses to gain a higher degree. Coach John Covin completed his master's degree with math courses from the Citadel in South Carolina, and Mrs. Joe Snodgrass received a Bachelor of Science degree in Health Care Management at East Texas State University. Mrs. William Cole and Mrs. Danny McElroy also received master's degrees, and Miss Karen Thomas added courses to her degree plan. Dr. Lawrence Puckett outdistanced just about everybody by gaining his Ph.D. after completing his doctoral dissertation.

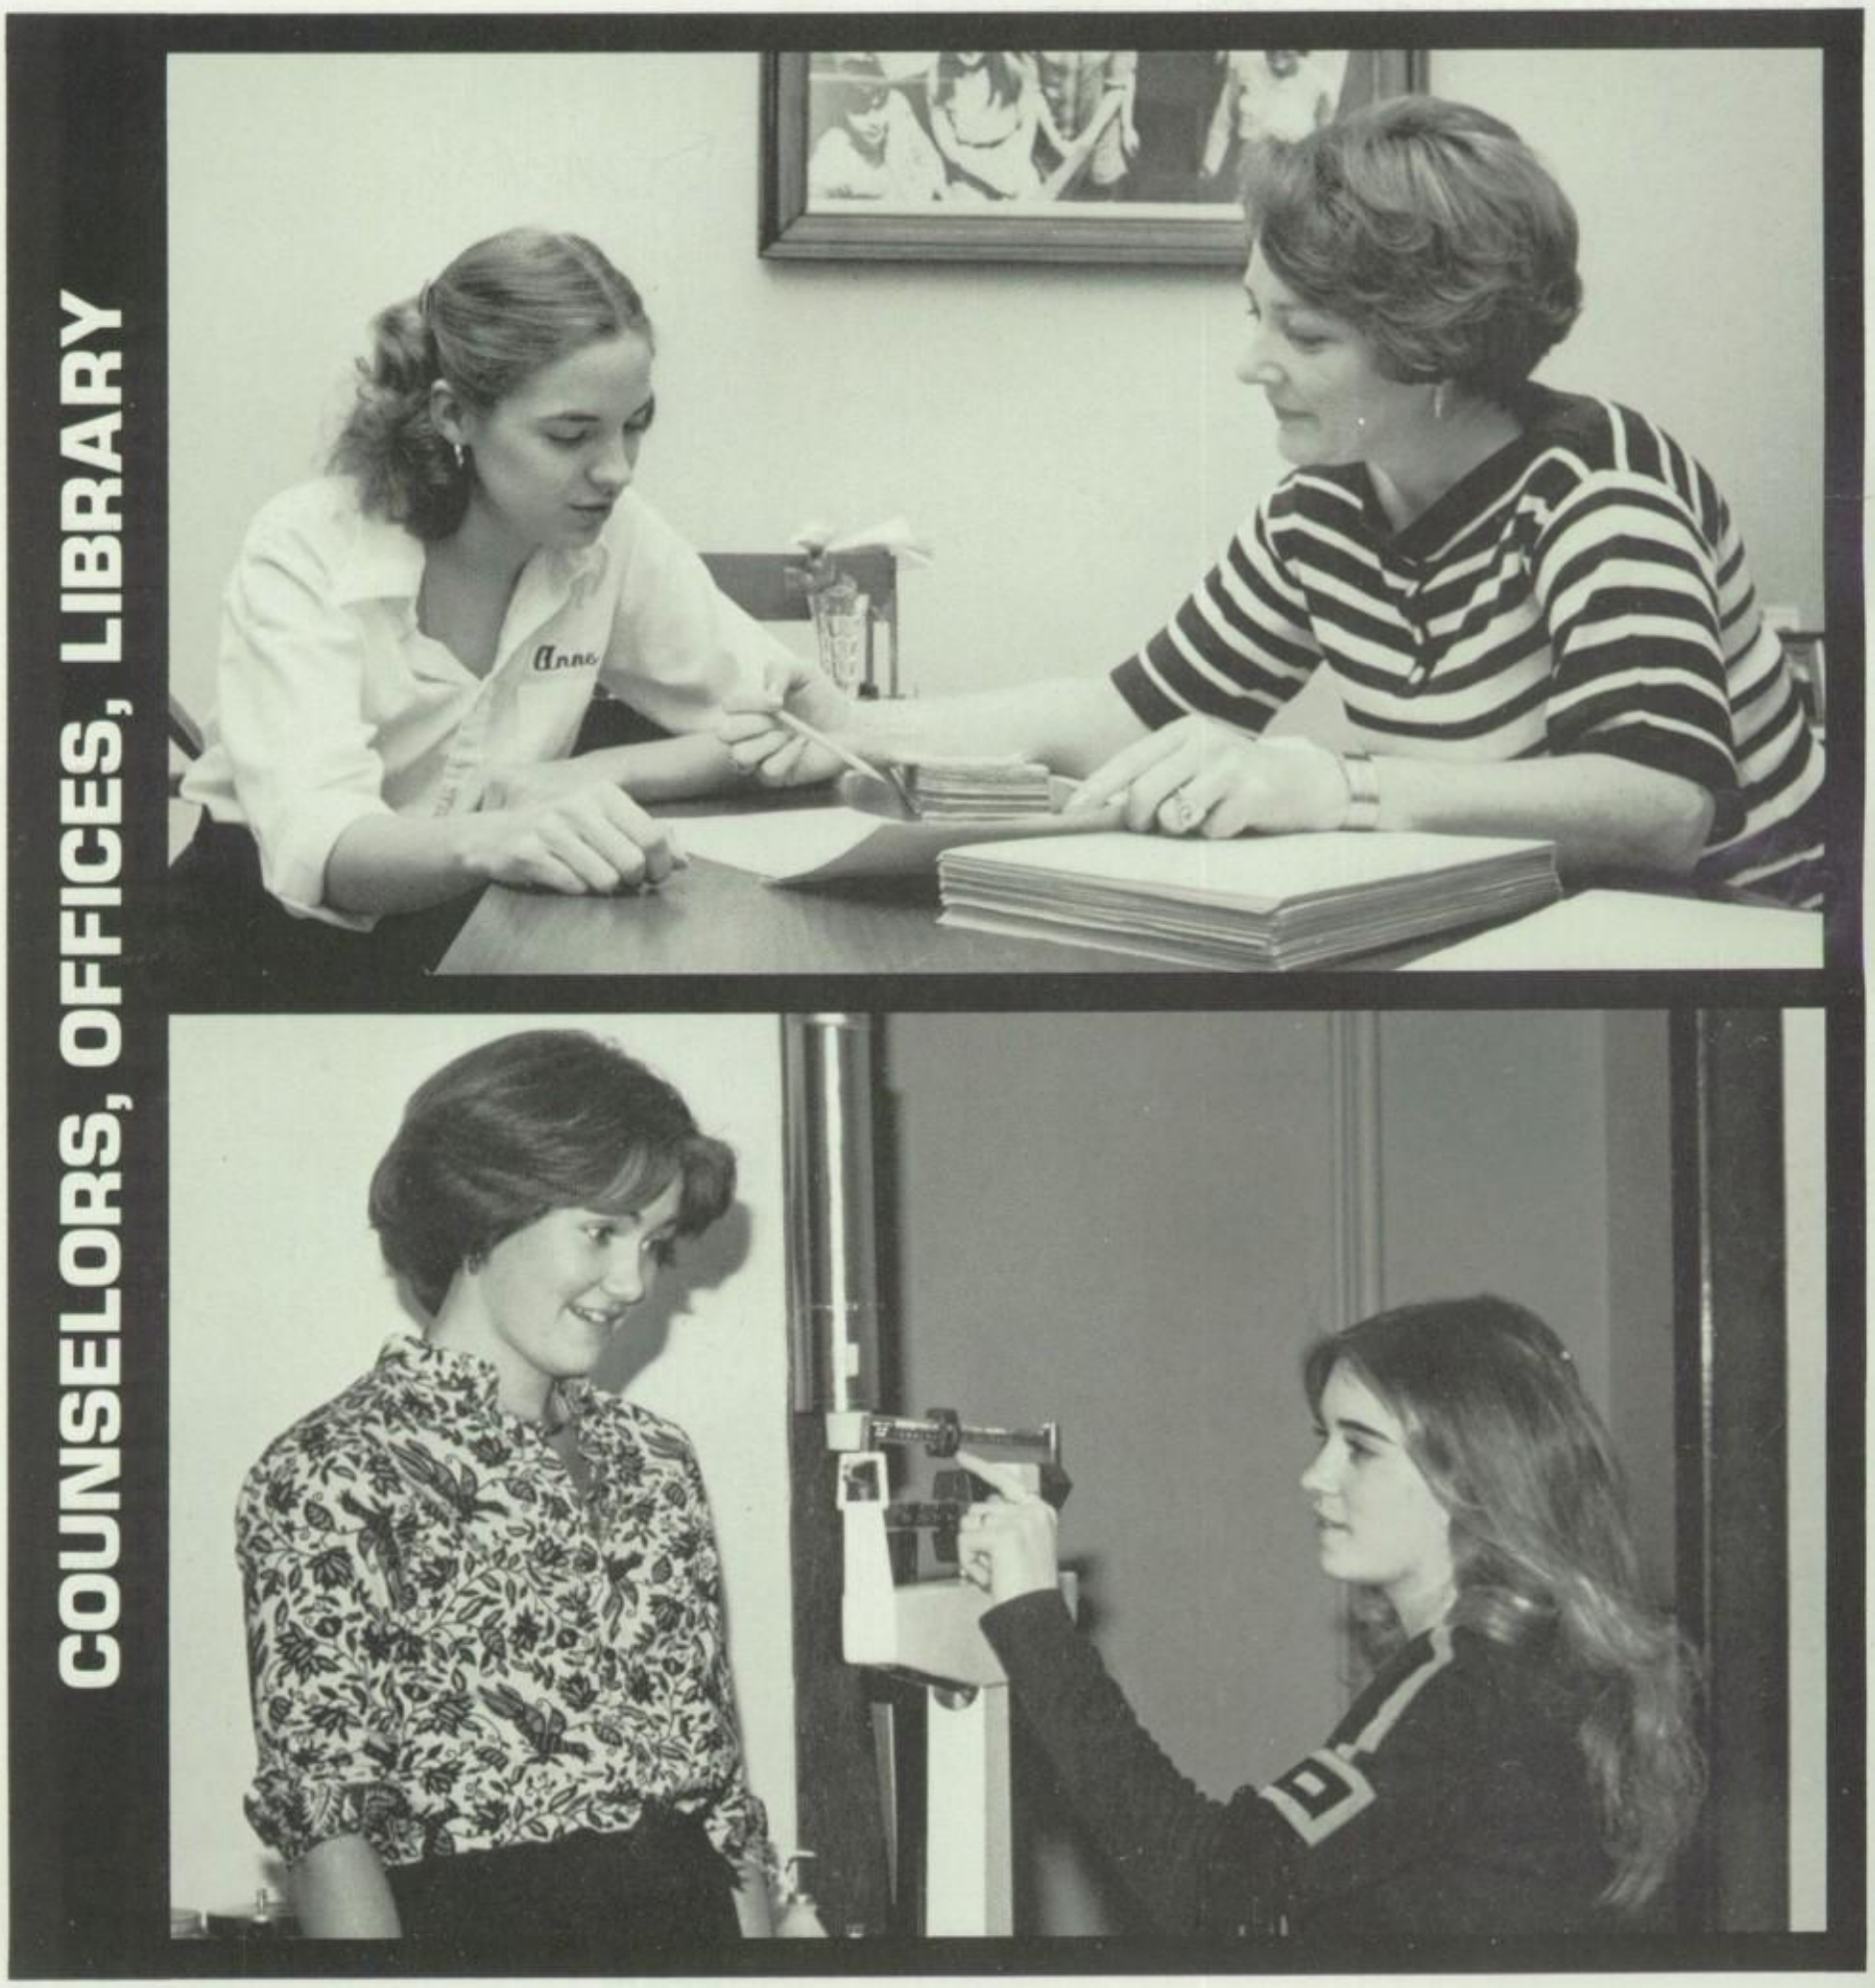
New computer helps seniors find colleges

"Looking for a college?" Many seniors found out that a new machine might offer an answer.

The counselor's office had a new computer to help students find a college that matched their interest. Students could feed in their interests and needs and the computer then printed out information on two- and four-year colleges and scholarships pertaining to the student's field of interest. Mrs. Edgar Guest, senior counselor, said this new addition would help students have a place to start in their college search.

Freshmen and sophomores were introduced to the California Test of Basic Skills and Standard Fundamental Test of Academic Aptitude tests. These tests came in two parts, academic aptitude and achievement.



COUNSELORS, OFFICES, LIBRARY

Instead of meeting in the auditorium for orientation, freshmen gathered in their advisories for the orientation talk.

Librarian Mrs. R. L. Hoebeke and assistants Mrs. J. F. Pope and Mrs. Stewart taught students to use the card catalogue in writing term themes. They also sponsored the crafts club. Making valentine pots was one project of the club.

Mrs. B. J. Snodgrass, Highland Park nurse, was again busy in healing ailing students. Ailments came in a broad assortment, ranging from "runs" in girl's hose to sprained ankles.

Work in the attendance office centered around collecting attendance cards, and sending out messages. All this was done under the direction of Mrs. J. B. Lyons, assisted by Mrs. Joyce Carmichael.

English skits show history, display talents

"All the world's a stage" proved true for sophomore major-works English students as they acted out chosen scenes of Julius Caesar in their own words for a better understanding of the play.

Major works sophomores also showed their talents at writing by contriving their own satires and short stories.

After completing research papers, junior English students enjoyed Mark Twain's lighthearted humor in Huckleberry Finn.

Chivalry and knighthood flowered briefly as freshman English classes studied the Arthurian legends. Shifting to another time in English history, they discussed Charles Dickens' classic novel Great Expectations.

Seniors learned of the injustices of the Russian purge trials by reading Darkness at Noon. Political and social problems of another century came into sharper focus through the satirical sallies of Jonathan Swift's Gulliver's Travels.

ENGLISH

Advanced placement seniors tried their talents at creative writing. However, Shakespeare's work was greatly emphasized in this course, and students read several plays, including Othello and King Lear.

Advanced speech students participated in debates and entered tournaments, one of which was hosted by the school in early October. Speech students also presented their versions of "Christmas Around the World" and "Rudolph the Rednosed Reindeer."

Later in the year drama students tried experimental techniques in a "Creativity Crash Course." This course included body-painting, poems, and the invention of imaginary animals which showed each student's uniqueness of imagination.

After learning the basic skills, journalism students contributed their efforts at copywriting, headlines, and layouts to the bi-weekly production of the Bagpipe. Second-year students held staff positions.

Teacher cuts square 'pies' in math class

"Πr^2, but I thought they were round!" insisted Miss Catherine Walters, as she taught the basics of trigonometry to her junior and senior math classes.

Sophomore algebra students used paper-folding experiments to illustrate visually the definitions of conic sections.

After working weeks on systems of equations, freshman majorworks algebra found that the determinant method was easy and saved time.

Lectures from Mr. Donald O'Quinn for senior math classes helped in the understanding of physical applications of trig graphs.

A detailed look at parallel lines and planes gave junior math students ideas for projects to be displayed at Open House.

"Fizix can be phun!" jubilantly exclaimed physics teacher Mr. Donald O'Quinn, despite the disagreement of some of his unconvinced students.

The biology department developed a new course of study which stressed animal systems instead of the classical approach to biology. Another first was the admission of freshmen to major-works biology.

Physics students were invited to attend several science symposiums during which research scientists, professors, and engineers gathered to present a day of lectures. In June 1976, two seniors were picked to represent the school at the Nuclear Science Symposium at The University of Texas at Austin.

Spanish poetry sharpens skills, reveals imagery

Japanese haiku assumed a Latin-American twist as third-year Spanish students wrote poetry.

The short line length of this poem forced students to sharpen their vocabulary skills and polish their syllable counts.

Advanced placement Spanish students grappled with a new unit in advanced grammar and explored the subtleties of Chilean poet and Nobel Prize winner Pablo Neruda.

First and fourth-level French students practiced vocabulary lessons in spell-downs. Level two classes presented "show and tell" cooking demonstrations entirely in French.

German students traveled to the University of Texas at Arlington to participate in a German festival called Novemberfest. They competed in such activities as skits, cooking and sports, all based on German culture.

All German classes participated in a Christmas culture day and enjoyed singing and vocabulary games. Students also made vocabulary transparencies to use in class.

Reports on Roman life, given with the use of audio visual aids, were among the principal projects for Latin classes. Latin bingo, concentration games, songs, and puzzles provided diversion from work for the students of the classics.

Presidential elections sparked the interest of history and government students who received extra credit for working for the candidate of their choice.

Instruction in procedures for voting registration directly benefited the 18 year-olds who would be casting their first ballots. Government students held a formal debate before school.

Candidates for the U.S. and Texas Senate lectured to government classes and gave students insight into the philosophies of the Democratic and Republican parties.

Mrs. Bud Collier's world history classes got a taste of other cultures when students prepared dishes native to a foreign country and made posters illustrating different customs. Mrs. Rae Ann Roeder's classes designed bulletin boards to illustrate periods of history.

Mr. Jimmy Lee's economics classes illustrated the problem of supply and demand, using charts and graphs.

Mr. John Hanscom enlightened his students in European studies by tracing our Anglo-Saxon origins. In a trimester course for juniors and seniors Mrs. Bud Collier taught students the basics of research in topics ranging from the behavioral studies of porpoises to medical ethics.

Asian studies classes found unique ways to introduce different cultures. Students dined at restaurants featuring Japanese, Chinese, and Indian food, and learned of the Ramayana, an Indian drama, from Mrs. Doris Plumlee's slides with a tape of the music.

Chefs prepare masterpieces for gourmets

Fine and practical arts courses offered students a chance to test their aptitudes in a variety of subjects, while hopefully aiding them in career choices.

Band members received a special honor when they were invited by General George Patton, Jr. to play as featured performers at a commemorative affair at Fort Worth.

Choir members presented many concerts, including the Lads and Lassies' special Christmas performance of Handel's "Messiah."

Art students expanded their talents by using water colors, clay, pastels, and pen and ink.

Business department electives prepared students for the future.

Elementary accounting classes kept the books of imaginary companies while stocks and bonds, income taxes, and insurance problems kept students of business math busy.

Typing classes added variety to their Christmas wishes in letters to Santa Claus.

Both boys and girls learned general nutrition and how to cook simple meals in food classes.

Students interested in carpentry took advantage of woodshop classes to make bookshelves and writing boxes while learning to use drill presses and table saws.

Elementary mechanical drawing students used T-squares and triangles to make scale drawings, and advanced students made practical use of their knowledge by designing individual house plans.

Competition proves rough in co-ed fitness classes

Are boys more competitive when confronted with the thought of being beaten by a girl?

Coeducational physical education classes have proved that they are, according to physical education teacher Mrs. Gynne Manson, who found it very satisfying teaching both boys and girls and observed that the boys would participate more in team sports when girls were in the classes.

Physical Education classes had something else to look forward to in improved facilities that would broaden curriculum offerings. Plans for the remodeling of the high school included new gymnastic equipment, volleyball and basketball courts, tennis and swimming dressing rooms, and a weight-training room. These new facilities were planned for the general overhaul of the building due to begin in early 1977.

Current events, special speakers, and visual aids encouraged students in the required health course to practice proper care of their bodies. Nutrition, the five senses, and the harmful effects of alcohol, drugs, and pesticides were studied.

Hours well-spent were the 32 classroom hours put in by students learning to drive in the one-trimester safety education course. After passing a written test, learners had six hours of observation behind-the-wheel during which instructor Mr. Tom Shelton coached students in the many actual situations a driver would encounter.

Lack of members threatened the existence of ROTC this year, although the freshman football team joined the corps in hopes of saving the oldest organization in school. In spite of these efforts, the future of the corps remained in doubt all year. Students took part in leadership, military training, physical training, marksmanship, and also took part in drill teams and schoolwide fire drills.

ATHLETICS

VARSITY PLAYER HEATH Coker goes head-over-heels over soccer practices.

Scots led the pace for the '76 race as the football team marched into the state playoffs, battling in the state quarter-final contest for the first time since 1959. The girls' cross country team also claimed the district title, and the volleyball team placed second in district in its first year of competitive play.

Scot gridders take district, regional titles

Returning all three starters in the offensive backfield, the Scots made an impressive debut in district 10-AAAA, piling up a 12-1-0 record, which included district, bi-district, and regional championships.

The only loss of the season was by a 28-14 count to the Temple Wildcats in the quarterfinals of the state playoffs. Temple went on to the state championship game, but lost a close contest.

Senior quarterback Scott Smith and senior tailback Marc Snyder led the massive offensive surge. During the regular season Hi Park scored an average of 31.4 points per game, giving up only 12.5 points per game.

Marc Snyder rushed for more than 1,800 yards while Scott Smith produced better than 1,900 yards of combined rushing and passing behind an outstanding offensive line of seniors Greg Sims, Rob Boyle, Dinnie Sloman, Greg McCoy, and Richard Umphress.

A strong defense anchored by linebacker Rusty Combes had consistent play from noseguard Dean Flowers, end Garry Gibbons, and defensive back Phil Sandifer. The Scot defense did an exceptional job containing opponents that, more often than not, had a tremendous size advantage.

Early victories make rivals wary of Scots

Opening the season, the Scots hosted the Paschal Panthers for a 35-21 victory. Although down 21-20 to begin the fourth quarter, the Scots unleashed a 14 point attack to tally the final 35-21 score.

Senior tailback Marc Snyder opened the season with 159 yards rushing on 27 carries while the defense held Paschal to only 39 yards total offense and four first downs in the first half. The victory was the first toward an undefeated season.

Hi Park travelled to Lake Highlands the following week to trounce the Wildcats 30-7. After a sluggish first half Lake Highlands led 7-0, but the second half proved quite different as the Scots pounded in for 24 points in less than seven minutes and then tacked on another touchdown in the waning seconds to maintain an unblemished 2-0 record.

The Scots stayed home the following week as the Arlington Colts stampeded into Highlander Stadium but went home crippled from a 34-7 Scot victory and an outstanding offensive show.

Irving MacArthur provided the next battleground for the Scots' explosion as the invaders ground out 425 offensive yards and shot down the Cardinals 34-7 for a 4-0 pre-district record.

Scots excel in rookie year of 10-4A play

Making a bid for their first district 10-AAAA title, the Scots opened at home against the South Garland Colonels, who were able to put more points on the board than any other opponent had done. Hi Park still racked up almost twice as many points to score a 55-28 victory.

The following week Mesquite played host on a rain-soaked artificial surface, but the Scots wiped out the Skeeters 27-24. Marc Snyder pushed his season rushing total to 895 yards on 100 carries in just five games. Scott Smith boosted the offense with 158 yards on 13 carries.

Wilmer-Hutchins provided the Scots their next victory by a 20-13 count. The Eagles proved the toughest competition to this point with the winning touchdown scored in the final seconds of the game. The Scot defense contained the Eagles' highly-touted offensive backfield and "got tough when the going got rough."

With a 7-0 record and a perfect season in sight the Scots hosted the North Mesquite Stallions on a crisp, cold, and drizzly homecoming night. The game was dominated by both defenses, and the margin of victory was provided by a 24-yard Scott Smith field goal with five minutes left. The 3-0 victory pushed the Scots to a string of eight consecutive victories.

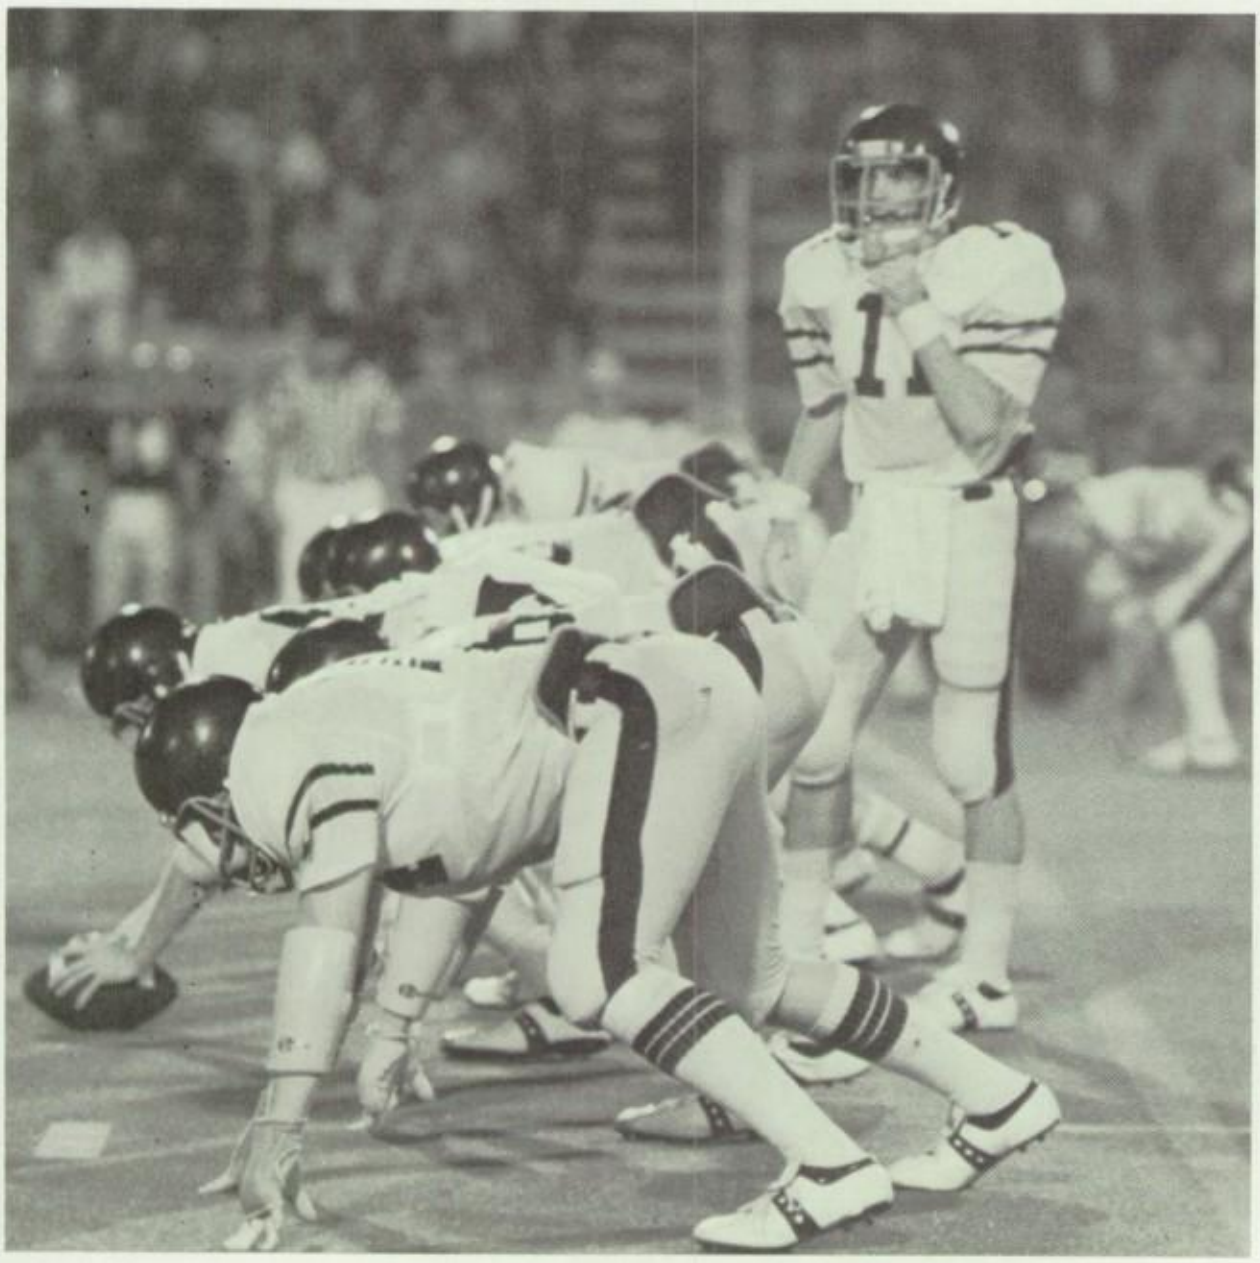
Gold machine crunches foes to claim title

Renewing an old rivalry interrupted for two years, the Scots travelled to Garland Memorial Stadium to outwit the Owls 27-7 and clinch the District 10-AAAA championship.

With Marc Snyder already over the one-thousand yard rushing mark the previous week, the Scots had no trouble manhandling the Owls. It all started and really ended on the second play from scrimmage as Marc Snyder burst through a hole and sprinted 80 yards to a touchdown. Ronnie Hilz helped ice down the Scot victory as his punts were accurately laid inside the five-yard line four times and once more inside the ten-yard line.

In the regular season finale with a district championship already clinched, the Scots soared past the North Garland Raiders, compiling a 42-6 halftime lead. Defensively Lockett Stewart and Ben Norwood led the charge as each returned an interception for a touchdown. Senior cornerback Phil Sandifer was knocked out for the rest of the season with a severe knee injury caused by a late hit.

The Scots finished up the regular season with an unblemished 10-0 record, anxious to meet South Grand Prairie for the bi-district championship at Texas Stadium.



HP undefeated for first time in 30 seasons

Taking the first step to the state finals, the Scots scalped the South Grand Prairie Warriors 41-13. The first score came only 52 seconds into the game, and with less than three minutes gone the Scots punched across the goal line again to mount a 13-0 lead.

Highland Park scored twice more before the half and held an insurmountable 27-7 lead at halftime. In the second half the Scots put two more touchdowns on the scoreboard and coasted to an easy 41-13 victory.

Tailback Marc Snyder picked up 191 yards on 22 carries while Scott Smith carried 21 times for 131 yards. Fullback Bobby Day punched out 54 hard-fought yards on ten carries. In all, the Scot offense piled up an awesome 437 yards rushing.

Advancing to a regional battle with W. T. White in the Cotton Bowl, the Scots ran all over the Longhorns in a 41-21 romp. Scott Smith broke open for touchdown runs of 73 and 62 yards while the offense piled up 486 yards rushing, therefore earning the right to meet Temple in Waco in a state quarterfinal clash the following week.

Temple downs Highland Park in quarterfinals

It happened on a day of perfect football weather. The Highland Park Scots travelled to Waco for a quarterfinal match with the Temple Wildcats.

The drive to Waco was pleasant enough and full of the excitement about to come. The excitement came and went as the victory went to Temple, whose rugged Wildcats shut down the Scots' Houston Veer attack, holding a running game of 486 yards the previous week to just over 100 yards. Scott Smith was forced to put the ball in the air 26 times, completing 13 for 196 yards.

Wide receivers David Wideman and Mike Sandifer had their best games ever as Wideman caught nine passes for 136 yards while Sandifer pulled in four passes for 60 yards.

The Scot defense sparkled in the second half, repeatedly holding Temple in their own territory. They gave the offense several extra chances but the determined Wildcat defense held on consecutive downs.

Although the final score read 28-14, the Scots had showed everyone present that the losing team could go out a winner as they saluted their alma mater and the school song for the last time in a blue and gold uniform.

Junior varsity produces 7-3 season record

B-team football players produced a 7-3 record, carrying on the winning tradition set by the varsity.

Head coach Cecil Holmes described the JV team as the best in 11 years with the best overall defense and the third-best overall total offense.

The B-team opened the season at home, narrowly losing to Lake Highlands in a heartbreaker. They ambushed their next three opponents before opening district play.

In the district opener, the Scots downed South Garland, and then Mesquite and Wilmer-Hutchins. They narrowly lost to North Mesquite followed by a second district loss to Garland.

Rebounding for the final game of the season, the Scots bombarded North Garland to finish district play with a 4-2 record.

For outstanding play, sophomores Arvin Combes, and Harold McCoy, and junior Rick Herscher were moved up to the varsity for the playoffs.

Frosh Scots tally victories, tie for district

Freshman Scots succeeded in matching Varsity football victories as they compiled an undefeated 9-0-1 record.

Opening the season against Duncanville, they demolished the Panthers' frosh 32-8. The following week Irving fell victim to the young Scots, who then defeated West Mesquite, and shut out Wilmer Hutchins.

West Mesquite, Wilmer Hutchins, and North Mesquite all fell by scores of 30-0, 34-6, and 14-7. In each of these games the Scots' defense held opposing offenses to less than 140 total yards.

In the final two games of the season the frosh shut out Mesquite 28-0 and held off North Mesquite 19-7, earning a play-off for the district championship.

As the home team in the district championship game against South Garland, the Scots put up a hard-fought defensive battle which ended in a 0-0 tie.

B-ball players finish third in first half

Varsity basketball players produced a winning record, returning several key players from last year's squad.

Although they finished third in the first half of district play, the Scots battled back in the second half to maintain a first-place tie with first-half champion Garland.

Head Coach Bo Snowden and Assistant Coch Tom Shelton again used massive substitutions to give a rest to the players who ran the potent fast-break offense of the Scots.

Captains Kyle Dodd, Richard Gruber, and Charles Pigeon led the team in its second-half district surge. Billy Allen and Kyle Dodd were the top scorers with averages of 15.8 and 15.3.

Kyle Dodd led the team in rebounds while Billy Allen led in steals.

Round-ballers compile wins, finish at 19-11

Arch-rival Garland spoiled the varsity basketball team's district 10-AAAA debut as the Owls won the first half of district play almost untouched with an 8-0 record.

The Scots made the second half of district play tougher for the Owls, using a home court advantage to drop them to second place 65-61. The North Mesquite Stallions dimmed district hopes before Wilmer-Hutchins extinguished the flame in the season finale.

Highlighting the season, the Scots regained the championship of their own Scot Classic Basketball tournament after a one-year leave-of-absence. In the annual Dr. Pepper Tournament, the round-ballers scored a first-round win before being eliminated in the second round by state-ranked Fort Worth Dunbar.

Recovery from all injuries before Christmas break insured hard holiday preparation for the district season as Scot round-ballers finished with a 19-11 record.

B-team scores even season; freshmen win

Scot B-teamers compiled a 15-15 record for the basketball season and ran up a 6-6 district record.

The B-team ran a fast-break type offense which was potent enough to run up an average of 61.8 points per game.

The greatest excitement of the season was provided in the two games against Wilmer-Hutchins. Both games were hard fought the whole way and the Scots came out on top at home by one point.

Coach Tom Shelton guided the Scots to their 500 season as Lott McIlhenny and Davey Davis led the scoring category with averages of 16.8 and 10.5 points per game.

Freshman roundballers were split into blue and gold teams with both teams compiling winning records. Coach Dave Emler guided the Gold team and Coach Johnny Covin masterminded the Blue team.

Cinderwomen take district, run for state

Finishing strong in all its district meets, the girls' cross country team won the District 10-AAAA Championship and advanced to Regionals.

At the Regional Meet December 4, sophomore Laura Jordan paced the Scot ladies with a third place finish in Region II. The Scots captured the first-place trophy and headed for the State Championship meet December 11 in Austin.

Against the state's top competitors, Hi Park finished third in Texas. Super-soph Laura Jordan, who finished thirty-sixth in the state tourney last year, used a strong kick to take fifth place this time around. The other top Scot runners were Erin Porterfield sixteenth, Dana Tinkle twenty-second, Lucinda Lowry fiftieth, Debbie Peters fifty-eighth, and Cathy Goetz seventy-second.

Jane Harrell, in her first year as girls' track coach, was understandably proud of her team's performance. Seniors Cathy Goetz and Lisa Tinkle captained the hard-working team.

In boys' cross country action, senior Emeric DeGall led the way for the Scots in the District Meet. DeGall placed third while Freshman Alan Shropshire finished ninth, and Steve Peters tenth. Neil Bremner came in twelfth, Bobby Bullington fifteenth, Whit Strickland nineteenth, and Neil McShane twenty-fifth. Despite the illness of several of the runners, the team finished well.

Seniors Steve Peters and Emeric DeGall were captains as Coach Jim Mouser directed the boys' squad.

Encouraged by the strong running of co-captains Cathy Goetz and Lisa Tinkle, the girls' track team prepared for the district season.

Mrs. Jane Harrell served as coach for the tracksters, giving the girls advice about improving their form and perfecting techniques in practices every afternoon.

Spring workouts for distance runners averaged five to seven miles two days a week and sprints three days a week.

Workouts continued the entire school year except for the Christmas holidays. The spring track season was broken into two parts for training. All runners worked on sprints and distance to build endurance, and as the season progressed, they tapered into high-quality sprints with longer rest intervals.

New facilities still unfinished for tracksters

With new track facilities still under construction, track practice was confined to Highlander Stadium and all competitive meets were staged away from the Highland Park campus.

February 19 marked the opening of the season at the Bishop Lynch Invitational Track Meet, where junior Richard Neely placed third in the shot put with a toss of 49 feet, 9 inches.

The track team practiced daily under the leadership of captains Emeric DeGall, and Steve Peters, and Coach Jim Mouser.

During comeptitions Greg Seitz, Steve Peters, and Joe Staley specialized in the pole vault while Emeric DeGall ran the long-distance races. Junior John Turner, sophomores Matt Aldredge, and Steve Rogers, and freshman Bobby Ellington ran the sprint relay.

Due to high winds and a low chill factor, times received at the Mesquite Invitational were low for all competitors. Despite these conditions Richard Neely placed first in shot put, John Turner came in third in the 220-yard dash, and Greg Seitz won sixth place in the pole vault competition.

The team culminated the season with the state meet in Austin.

The freshman team was led by Coach Anthony Waters.

Smallballers begin season, set down goals

With 11 returning lettermen, making contact with the ball and eliminating mental errors were the goals of the smallballers in early competition.

The Scots began their competitive season against Jesuit with a 6-2 victory. Seniors Stan Keith and Marc Snyder hit 100 percent to aid the team effort. In a double-header against Garland, the team showed potential with consecutive victories of 7-1 and 12-0.

The first scrimmages and afternoon practices gave head coach Cecil Holmes good impressions and an optimistic look ahead. Scott Smith and Jeff Patterson displayed pitching talent as juniors Mike Mott, Frank Hundley, and Mike Sandifer showed skill at various positions. New recruits included Phillip Sandifer and Marc Snyder.

Seniors Scott Smith and Stan Keith were captains of the varsity squad.

The junior varsity baseball team also started the season off right with victories over Jesuit and Garland and a 6-6 tie with North Garland.

The "B" team, under the direction of coach Orville Jones, practiced daily as did the varsity team for season play beginning March 1.

Veteran team places fourth in national rank

With 17 returning lettermen, a veteran Scot tennis team continued a respected tennis tradition by placing well in Texas tennis action and gaining state and national recognition in pre-season polls.

The boys' tennis team for the 1977 pre-season was ranked by the National Prep Sports Network as fourth in the nation while individual stars were also present on the tennis roster.

In the 18's division, seniors Reid Freeman, Dan Cooper, and John Low were ranked first, second and third in the state. Freeman also received a ranking of 52 to 61 in the nation. Freshman Talbot Davis of the 14's division was ranked second in the state and fifteenth in the nation while Scott Turner was placed thirty-first in the state of the 18's division. Junior Susie Low of the 16's division was ranked at fourteenth in the state.

In Texas tennis competition, the Scot netters won the Wichita Falls Regional Tournament and advanced to the state finals in Midland. Hi Park easily won its first contest of the state finals against Abilene. The second test for the fuzzy ballers netted them 12 to 6 match victory over San Antonio Churchill, with the boys winning 8 of 9 matches.

A set count broke a 9-9 tie with Midland in the semifinals and Hi Park had to settle for a consolation match against Alamo Heights. With the matches tied, sets were again counted with the Scots winning the consolation championship by three sets for third place in Texas.

Susie Low and Reid Freeman were captains of the varsity netters with Miss Nancy Duncan as coach.

Blue Wave achieves wins, breaks records

Under tough competition from W. T. White and Bryan Adams in the regional championships, Scot swimmers placed second in the girls' division and third in the boys'.

For the boys, dual meet wins were achieved against Lake Highlands, J. J. Pearce, and Plano swim teams. The only dual meet loss was to Bryan Adams in a close and exciting exhibition.

The girls' team dominated all dual meet competition except a meet against Lake Highlands where they were defeated in the free relay.

In a triangular meet against Norman High School from Oklahoma and Richardson High, Scot swimmers picked up second place in both divisions.

In the annual SMU relays, the girls' 300-yard backstroke relay of Laura Allison, Mary Harrell, Kathy Bradley, and Janabeth Lynch set a new meet record as the girls placed second and the boys ranked third.

Both girl and boy divers fared well in dual-meet competition, providing the team with necessary points.

Seniors Webber Beall and Kira Rathjen provided leadership as captains for Coach Mike Sorrells as the team prepared for the state championship meet.

Golfers swing, stroke ahead in tournaments

With four of the top five players of last year's state ranking team returning, the golfers swung through the autumn tour and gained high finishes in all preseason tournaments.

The Scots, led by tri-captains Sam Manning, Rick Jones, and Michael Stuart, practiced daily at the Dallas Country Club in preparation for early-season tourneys and a long spring schedule which climaxed with District and Regional tournaments in April.

In their first tournament, the swingers took the first-place trophy in the tenth annual Grand Prairie Invitational by scoring a school record of even-par 288. Senior Rick Jones paced the smallest ballers with a two-under-par 70 followed close behind by seniors Sam Manning and Matt Renz with 71.

Strong competition invaded their own Highland Park Invitational, but Sam Manning paced the Scots to a first-place finish with a 74. The team score was 307, six strokes ahead of the second place contenders.

Senior Michael Stuart paced the team to a third-place finish in the Arlington Heights Invitational, and Rick Jones connected with the ball 76 times for a third-place finish in the Arlington Tournament. In the Irving Tournament, Sam Manning stroked a 77 for a team finish of second with a 316.

Sam Manning attributed the Scots' pre-season success to a greater amount of experience than usual and a lot of hard work.

Coach Gerald Everett, a McCulloch Middle School physical education teacher in the mornings, directed the afternoon practice of the golf team.

Golfing girls join male team for first year

In its first year in existence at Hi Park, the girls' golf team attracted four members.

Juniors Cathy Bass and Elizabeth Bradley, sophomore Carol Meek, and freshman Mary Ann Crow practiced daily at the Dallas Country Club in preparation for early season tournaments.

The first competition for the girl team was scheduled in Denton on March 14. Being relatively new in the area, the group was one of only two teams in the district. This proved to be an advantage for the girls, guaranteeing them a place in the regional competition.

Coach Gerald Everett directed the activities of the girls as they worked on the driving range and on the course to improve their form.

Showing a great deal of improvement in their third year of organized competition, the soccer team opened the season capturing three of their first four district games.

Good attendance indicated the increasing interest in soccer as a spectator as well as a competitive sport.

The Scots began their district schedule with a 12-0 win over Wilmer-Hutchins. Senior Heath Coker paced Hi-Park with three goals. Lakeview was the second victim of the Scot machine as Heath Coker again led the Scots with three goals to a 5-1 victory. Greg Sanders and Mark Muller also contributed to the team effort with one goal each.

Against North Garland, the Scots had to settle for a 2-2 tie at Highlander Stadium. Heath Coker scored both of Hi-Park's goals. At Memorial Stadium, against South Garland, the Scots, down 3-1 at the half, rallied back to a 6-3 victory. Greg Sander produced two goals and Ben Thorpe, Heath Coker, and Mark Muller each contributed their skills with one goal apiece. South Garland helped the Scot effort by scoring one of the Scot goals also.

Tri-captains for the Varsity Soccer team were seniors Doug Webb, Heath Coker and David Gowdey.

The Junior Varsity soccer team also played a winning part by taking three of their first games. Against South Garland Mike Berry, contributed to the Scot's 6-0 victory by producing two goals.

Captains for the JV team were sophomores Eddie Bowden and Sam Chantilis.

Team wins in first year of district play

Girls' volleyball players dug and spiked out a second-place standing in their first year of district competition.

The enthusiastic team, led by new coach Miss Susan Hall, finished the season with 14 wins and 5 losses, while the junior varsity wound up with 12 wins and 7 losses.

Much excitement and noise was generated in a pre-season match against Wilmer Hutchins as parent and student fans continued to turn out in faithful numbers to maintain local support throughout the season.

In their first district match, Highland Park surprised South Garland with an obvious improvement since the beginning of the season.

Outstanding varsity players were Jeanne Barker, Janie Carpenter, Gretchen Hankinson, Tricia Morgan, Michelle Pringle, Susan Swanson, and Lyn Tucker.

Although junior varsity team play was somewhat inconsistent, the all-around performance of several of the girls was impressive.

Outstanding junior varsity players included Captain Carrie Cinatl, Carol Dunton, Sarah Kane, Katie Rice, Ellison Stollenwerk, and Amy Wise.

Co-ed classes add interest to team sports

The battle of the sexes recruited members from both sides as all physical education classes except aerobics and cardiovascular fitness followed a national trend and turned co-ed this year.

One girl felt that "competing in sports with boys was a lot more fun than all girl competition," while others enjoyed being taught by a male coach. The class shifts resulted in a wider variety of course choices in addition to smaller classes with more individualized instruction.

State requires five trimesters of PE classes

State and local regulations required five trimesters of physical education for graduation. First-year classes participated in cardiovascular fitness, aerobics, team sports, aquatics, and gymnastics, while learning the purposes and values of conditioning and evaluating the progress of their improvement.

Elective courses chosen to fulfill the remaining PE requirements included tournament play and theory, team sports, racquet sports, advanced lifesaving, weight training and conditioning, instructional swimming, aquatic games, and bowling.

Inter-class tournaments in each team activity increased competitiveness, while written and practical examinations in advanced lifesaving encouraged the use of important water safety and rescue practices.

ORGANIZATIONS

NATIONAL FORENSIC LEAGUE members Kathryn Kaufman, Diane Carlson, and Laura Frase dramatize a scene for reader's theater.

Mass involvement in diverse interests elevated club participation, as more students developed their talents in a variety of organizations. The two largest clubs, Hi-Lites and Thespians, incorporated social activities and community service projects into their programs.

SC President tried, acquitted by 62-47 vote

Unexpected events occurred as the executive committee of the Student Council voted 13-6 to bring impeachment charges against SC president Mark Srere.

After presenting to the Student Council a proposal for a 1950-style dress-up day without going through the constitutionally prescribed procedure of executive committee approval, Mark was charged with neglect of duty. In spite of subsequent disapproval, Mark and several other students came to school dressed for the occasion and received a one-day suspension as a result. More than 100 Student Council members who were present to vote in the all-day hearing January 24 acquitted Mark of the charges by a 62 to 47 margin.

In more typical and traditional Student Council activities, senior representatives Susanna Shytles and Sara Stevenson planned the "Beginnings Dance" during Howdy Week. The announcement of the winners in the secret spy contest and the naming of the friendliest boy and girl from each grade were made at the dance.

The Clan came out in record time, and for the first time the student directory was divided into alphabetically-ordered sections according to classes.

New sponsor Mrs. Kathleen Burdett along with Mr. Cecil Holmes assisted the council and its committees. Freshman representative David White and treasurer Jill McKenzie headed the caravan committee, providing transportation to out-of-town games. Twenty-three buses, the largest number to travel to any game, went to the Wilmer-Hutchins contest.

Freshman representative David Davis coordinated projects for the school's annual entry in the Freedoms Foundation Competition. Heading the publicity committee, sophomore representative Jeanne Barker led her committee in making posters for Student Council events. Pris Shytles, a sophomore representative, was in charge of checking eligibility requirements. Presenting school suggestions to Assistant Principal Ron Geyer was the responsibility of senior representative Dan Cooper, and junior representative Louis Hexter. Vice-president Pat Gormley, working with the improvement committee, initiated "Senior Privileges" at the beginning of the second six weeks. Junior representative Simone Myers headed the Welfare Committee.

President Mark Srere appointed Cathy Baker, Joan Hodges, Jan Jordan, Chris Hewitt, Scott Davis and Sally Tubb as honorary executive committee members.

Business staff sets records of most sales

Setting a new record, the Highlander business staff sold annuals to 92 percent of the students.

Business managers Robert Neeley and Martha Flagg, with help from the Student Council, worked hard to increase purchases to 10 percent more than last year. Seventeen homerooms reached 100 percent Highlander sales.

The 25-member business staff financed the yearbook by selling ads to Dallas merchants and businessmen, parents of Highland Park students and student groups.

The Highlander editorial staff, headed by co-editors Susan Aston and Delaney Murchison, and associate editors Cissy Hudson and Sherri Hewitt, faced their first deadline with the publication of the summer supplement.

The 31 staff members wrote copy, set up pictures, and planned layouts, finding a little relief through the new trimester system, which gave them an extra week before deadlines.

The two Highlander staffs took a rest from work to celebrate Christmas at a party given at Susan Aston's house.

The 1977 Highlander was sponsored by Miss Diane Cook and aided by business assistant Miss Gladys Bradshaw.

BAGPIPE

New columns add interest, amuse readers of Bagpipe

Entertainment columns and a new "Diversions" feature describing places to go in Dallas livened up the 1976-'77 issues of The Bagpipe. Purchasers read the amusing columns of co-editors Ann Berry and Robert Ruff, as well as the more serious editorials dealing with school-related topics.

Staff writers practiced their skills by covering such topics as the 1976 elections, plans for Park "A" and problems caused by drinking at school functions, in addition to writing on the lighter subjects of fashion surveys and student interviews.

The sports pages featured the football team's victorious drive to the quarter-finals in the schoolboy playoffs and the accomplishments of the basketball, swimming, track, and soccer teams.

The Bagpipe's Christmas issue provided a change in the annual format by featuring artwork in the borders, green print, and an article on "Gifts We'd Like to See" for a number of local personalities.

Working to finance The Bagpipe, Co-business managers David Cornwall and Martin Shampaine sold ads to both businesses and students, keeping the price of the paper down.

Bagpipe staffers, finding time for fun between writing chores, proofreading and supervising pictures, congregated at a staff member's home bi-weekly for a dinner celebrating the publication of each new issue.

The Bagpipe challenged the yearbook staff to a football game in January, but animosities were forgotten at a publications picnic in the spring.

The editorial and business staffs of The Bagpipe were aided and supervised by sponsor Mrs. Reyburn Myers and business assistant Miss Gladys Bradshaw.

Literary board picks entries for publication

Poems, short stories, other literary entries and art selections met approval from at least three different committees before becoming a part of the Tartan.

Chairman Laura Hanley and co-chairman Sabrina Skeldon conferred with the 11 literary board members on the selections submitted to the annual literary magazine. The board members discussed the pros and cons of all the submissions, which had been coded in such a way that the judges did not know the names of the student authors.

According to the grade-level of the author, approved entries were passed on to two English teachers of each grade and then to assistant principal Mr. Ernie Ritter for further approval.

While Mrs. Dorris Warburton sponsored the literary board, Miss Paula Duckworth and Mr. James Carter supervised the art boards. Mrs. Reyburn Myers aided as production sponsor for the March P-TA Open House debut of the TARTAN.

Current events add incentive for Round Table discussion

Election campaigns and current political strife added incentive for Round Table members to become more involved in discussions on the national level.

At the beginning of the school year, newly-selected members of the discussion club were asked to submit topics for discussion for the coming year. Some of the topics discussed were the 1976 Presidential race, the death penalty, and the South African apartheid policies.

Chairman Hunt Blair, secretary Libby Coker and sponsor Mrs. Sheila Douthit planned the annual initiation breakfast at White Rock Lake and a dinner featuring a speaker on juvenile delinquency.

Leo slaves sell services in raffle draw

Leo Club members tamed their style as they sold their services for a full day to lucky raffle winners. The "slaves" found themselves carrying books, washing cars, and walking their "owners" to classes. Johnny Meador used his schoolboy charm to snag the most sales from the anxious girls.

At the Leos' annual ping pong tournament, Rick Jones turned the tables on his competitors and captured top honors. Adding to tournament play, they found that bowling was up their alley as they knocked down the pins in competition.

The club sponsored a dance held in January at the Dallas Country Club. The band "River City" from Fayetteville, Askansas, played for the Leos' first annual private formal January 22.

Major office holders led by President David Gowdey included vice-president Sam Manning, secretary Johnny Delatour, and treasurer Bedford Burgher. On the board of directors were Johnny Meador, Rick Jones, Rusty Combes, Doug Chestnut, Bobby Carter, John Turner, and Snowden "Plimpton" Leftwich, tailtwister.

Coach Wayne Johnson and Mr. Denny Day sponsored the Leos as they were supported by Mr. Charles Dexter of the Inwood Lion's Club.

Spirit squad spends season making posters

Many long, hot summer hours spent by the Spirit Committee making posters paid off in increased enthusiasm in the student body when school opened in August.

Seniors Susan Cregor, Linda Meek, and Clint Simpson, elected as Spirit Committee heads, worked with sponsor Mrs. Gynne Manson to lead the group in inventing slogans and painting signs used in pep rallies during the school year.

The Spirit Committee raised money to help pay for the paint, streamers, paper, and balloons used to decorate the boys' gym for pep rallies. They held a bake sale in the summer and sold bumper stickers to the students.

Members of the Spirit Committee reported to all the football games wearing their uniform shirts and made a victory line on the field for the district-champion football team.

Athletes join to view films, help charity

"You can't tell the players without a program!"

Fellowship of Christian Athletes sold programs at all home basketball games. Part of the profits went to the National Fellowship of Christian Athletes and a portion of the proceeds bought tapes, films, and books needed during the meetings.

During the meetings the guys saw films of different sports and sometimes divided into huddle groups to share their Christian experiences and learn ways of building a Christian relationship through athletics. Coaches Wayne Johnson, Dave Emler, and John Covin, along with Oscar Rone, tight-end of the Cleveland Browns, and Baylor football coach, Grant Taff, spoke at meetings.

In January members enjoyed a "chip-n-dip" party at David Gowdey's home. "Homemaker" Scott Smith supplied refreshments; and David, Phil Sandifer, and Greg Sims provided entertainment with their singing and piano-playing routine.

Members also planned a breakfast to announce new officers for 1977-'78. This year's officers were David Wideman, president; Scott Smith, vice-president; Rusty Combes, secretary; and Tim Boltinghouse, treasurer. Sponsor was Coach Bo Snowden.

Key Clubbers scramble goats, win money prize

Key Club "cowboys" kicked off the year with a goat scramble contest at the State Fair of Texas October 12. The 12 members who participated beat Bryan Adams with their rodeo talents and received $100 and a trophy as their prize for the feat.

On October 21 Key Clubbers hosted the annual leadership breakfast, featuring orange juice, bacon and eggs, and speaker Danny Reeves of the Dallas Cowboys. The club, along with PFLASH and LEGG'S Y-Teens, spread the spirit of Christmas by caroling at the Scottish Rite hospital.

The annual Faculty-Key Club basketball game in the spring turned out to be a ball for all the spectators.

Key Club members helped out their sponsor club, the Kiwanis, by selling antique show tickets.

Leadership was provided by president Webber Beall, vice-president Robert Neely, secretary Dinnie Sloman, and treasurer Scott Davis.

Hi-Lites begin year with hoedown picnic

Adorned in stylish apparel, senior boys entertained the all-girl Hi-lites club at the Big Sister-Little Sister picnic with the first style show of the year.

The girls also listened to the tunes of Phillip Sandifer and Barton Prideaux at Williams Park, decorated in line with the theme, "Hi-Lite Hoedown."

At the first of the year, Hi-Lites and the Student Council co-sponsored the "Beginnings" dance, designed to help students get to know each other better.

In October, the annual Hi-Lite tea was given at the home of Lyn Tucker in honor of all the girls and their mothers.

Couples danced in their favorite athletic wear at the December Hi-Lite dance. In keeping with tradition the girls asked the boys and voted on Hi-Lite King. Sam Manning received this royal title at the close of the "Jock Rock" dance.

Thursday-morning meetings brought the girls together as the program vice-presidents provided such entertainment as singers, a leg contest, and style shows featuring apparel from local stores.

Welfare vice-presidents and the Red Cross vice-presidents joined efforts to hand-make a Christmas tree and Santa Claus finger puppets for the Children's Medical Center. The young patients then received these puppets during the holidays.

Mrs. Grace Parish guided the 13 officers with their important decisions throughout the year as HiLite sponsor.

All-staters receive honors, participate in UIL contest

Boasting five All-State and thirteen All-State winners, the orchestra competed in contests and performed at local hospitals and businesses.

Receiving All-State honors were Geoffrey Day, Courtney Roark, Marilyn Roark, Catherine Simpson, and Lisa Stalcup.

A garage sale in February provided the group with the funds necessary to finance the year's trips and parties.

Freshman recruits were officially initiated at a fall picnic at Caruth Park. A party after the All-Region tryouts and a spring party were also planned.

Hours of practice spent during and after school proved worthwhile as the orchestra entertained shut-ins at Medical City Hospital and office executives at the Exchange Park building. Other scheduled performances included spring and winter concerts given at the school, and the U.I.L. contest in the spring.

To supply the atmosphere for the musical Oklahoma orchestra members switched from Bach to Rodgers and Hammerstein and worked with the choir and band.

President Margaret Williams planned the orchestra's activities with help from vice-president Catherine Simpson, treasurer David Mills, secretary Elaine Hampton, historian Kathy Baldwin, and librarian Leland Dysart.

L&L members pay tribute, wear western-style outfits

With a "Waughld Waughld West" theme, Lads and Lassies officers and members, outfitted in elaborate western wear, showed their appreciation for director Don Waugh at their annual opening picnic.

Fund-raising projects such as sales of Christmas cards, candy and candles provided the choir with funds to pay for each member's expenses at Galveston, where the choir would participate in a state competition.

Preparation for Christmas began early for the choir members as they rehearsed 12 weeks for performance of Handel's "Messiah" December 7 featuring eight soloists. Excitement of the season climaxed as the choir performed a selection of Christmas songs and carols on the David Wade television show.

Selected to sing in the All-Region Choir, Carol Cleaver, Louis Hexter, Marilyn Roark, and Mimi Vornholt performed in January, and Carol Cleaver advanced to All-State Choir competition.

Choir members participated in the University Interscholastic League Solo and Ensemble contest in February. Those receiving superior ratings advanced to State competition in June. The entire choir received several superior ratings in regional choir competition.

In March, the Music department presented the Broadway stage version of the musical Oklahoma! A majority of Lads and Lassies members participated in the production with Jan Oliver and Steve Biggers holding the leads.

Candy sales raise money for singers

"They melt in your mouth, not your hand" was the slogan of the Highlandaires' annual fund raising drive as they sold 1,344 boxes of chocolate candy, making $900.

The 28-member girls' choir elected officers Alice Spradley, president; Susie Hook, secretary; Laura Smith, treasurer; and Cathy Bass and Beth Kelly as librarians.

Members spread Christmas cheer to friends and elderly people. The girls also performed at churches and homes and then enjoyed a Christmas party at Gretchen Hankinson's home. They carried home hoarse voices, extra pounds, and gifts.

Section leaders were Pris Shytles, Carol Collie, and Sarah Hogg.

Choir spreads season cheer at Christmas

Production of the musical Oklahoma! involved many Revelaire choir members in costumed roles and on committees. Three-hour rehearsals were scheduled almost daily for more than two months.

In the fall a submarine sandwich party failed to sink the choir, which resurfaced for a major fund-raising project of selling orange cards for Halloween messages. During first period classes on Halloween day, these cards were passed out to the lucky victims along with bags filled with "tricks and treats."

Spreading Christmas cheer, the choir caroled at the home of some of their favorite teachers and shut-ins. A party was held after the caroling for exchanging gag gifts.

Many members participated in the University Interscholastic League Solo and Ensemble competition March 5.

Officers were president Katrina Case, vice-president Jeannie Smith, secretary Camille Mayes, treasurer Lydia Wilson, historian Lee Ann Brown, and librarians Dorothy Dowell and Dana Jackson.

Candy sale earns money for choir funds

Choralaires choir members got off to an early start on a sweet note as they sold boxes of candy the first few weeks of school. The money earned was used throughout the year for parties.

This girls' choir was made up primarily of freshmen and sophomores with only two juniors. Under the direction of Mr. Don Waugh the group learned beginners' music and music theory.

Combining with the other three choir groups, the members of Choralaires participated in the fall concert and worked hard to perfect their voices for the spring University Interscholastic League concert.

Organizing the choir were President Linda Haseltine and Vice-President Becky Chalk. Annabelle Stone served as secretary. Treasurer Kim Roesseler handled the fund-raising projects.

Frosh pipers learn dances, take lessons

Summer workshops and a state-wide piping school held at Highland Park gave freshmen a head start and the incentive to continue lessons on their own during the school year.

More Lassies took outside lessons in Highland dancing and bagpiping this year than ever before.

Girls went to competitions in Dallas, Fort Worth, Oklahoma, Houston, and Waco, acquiring many awards. Lassies performed at the Salado competition for the annual "Gathering of the Clans."

Scottish competitions include both piping and dancing and attract several hundred competitors and onlookers. Kathy Leake, Catherine Cantwell and Lori Ann Winston won medals in dancing while Ellen Burke, Cathy Hay, and Susan Swarner won medals in piping.

Officers were Lassie Commander Dorothy Dickson, Dance Major Catherine Cantwell, Pipe Major Stephanie Woodruff, and Pipe Sergeants Patty Ellisor and Ellen Burke. Kathy Leake was Drum Dancer and Catherine Cantwell was assistant.

New uniforms and plans for a renovated band hall brightened the year for band members.

The marching band participated in the annual Parade of Champions contest and received a first division in the University Scholastic League competition and the Hurst-Euless-Bell contest. Five members made All-Region and Craig Arps made All-State band. The band performed at the Fort Hood army base for their twenty-fifth anniversary, capping off a successful season.

The Christmas dance was decorated with a "Children's Christmas" theme, and the Spring banquet featured a motif of traditional Scottish crests.

Basketball games were on the schedule for the stage band, and the Boogie Brigade played at several pep rallies and an assembly.

A summer garage sale began necessary fund-raising projects for a summer trip to a Florida competition.

Band musicians also gave an appreciation concert to express their gratitude for new uniforms which a fall bond issue provided.

Officers included president Jon Dickson, vice-president Craig Arps, secretary Tammy Darrow, treasurer Meg Morgan, social chairperson Kathy Beaty, equipment manager Carey Moore, and librarians Mary Buckingham and Kathy Dugan. Drum Major was Jim Clark, and assistant was Kevin Kelly.

Upped interest gains increase for Thespians

Increased interest in acting upped Thespian membership 50 percent from last year.

Thespians, one of the few international clubs of Highland Park, met biweekly under the leadership of sponsor Mrs. Linda Raya. Their meetings featured impromptu acting, officers' skits, singing and TV show interpretations. The 167-member organization uncovered varied talents and developed new ideas as plays got under way for the annual spring "Tribute" program.

Thespians' version of the Academy Awards was enacted at the spring initiation as plaques went to the best supporting actor and actress.

President Shelley Brandt led vice-president Debbie Kirby, secretary Alicia Martinez, treasurer Shannon Sayles, representatives Diane Carlson and Janie Fulgham, and clerk Cynthia Mahaffey in planning the programs.

AFS bonds raise money for exchanges

Valentine carnation sales, a talent show, and AFS bonds added funds to the American Field Service treasury to bring students from abroad to spend a year at Highland Park.

The talent show and carnation sales were both huge financial successes. Eddie Coker and Dawn Lallier sang "On My Own" to first prize at the talent show.

1976 graduate Hunter Farrell presented a program on his stay in Argentina. He explained that the young people there were as friendly as any he knew at home.

Nena Kopkavar from Yugoslavia and Michael Middelmann from South Africa were this year's exchange students. Nena stayed at Highland Park all year, but Michael transferred in January to a Chicago school to gain the experience of attending a school in another part of the country.

Highland Park hosted an International Day November 17 for AFS students in the Dallas area.

YOUTH AGAINST DYSTROPHY

A haunted house in the gym on Halloween, a bake sale, a dance marathon in April, a Christmas party, and a rock and roll musical program were on Youth Against Dystrophy's schedule this year. The organization gave all their time and proceeds from these projects to local muscular dystrophy chapters.

Y.A.D.'s President Clint Simpson, first vice-president Ruthie Teague, second vice-president Laurie Christner, secretary Wendy Wheeler, treasurer Jan Anderson and sponsor Mrs. Rebecca Farris led the 30-member club in their second year of existence.

Busy students expand skills, learn careers

Career-oriented students in Distributive Education cut their school days short, getting out at one, two or three o'clock every day to expand their skills in the business world.

DECA members raised money for their annual spring banquet by selling spirit buttons for the football and basketball teams. Members also made a profit from a delicatessen they set up in the high school cafeteria during the Hi Park speech tournament.

DE students were concerned with learning about the fields of marketing and distribution, advertising, sales presentation and display of merchandise. They worked at local clothing stores, popular novelty shops and sports shops.

DECA officers were president Ken Woolley, vice-president Diane Willison, secretary Lynne Holmes, treasurer Debbie Taylor, reporter Sherry Graham and scrapbook chairman Diane Mayo. They were sponsored by Mrs. Mary Cole.

Meetings study future careers, health fields

Bi-monthly meetings of the Health Careers Club offered career-guidance programs to students wishing to enter a health-related field.

The club sponsored a bake sale after school in February in the cafeteria to raise money for projects.

Guest speakers presented more health information to the club members. A representative from Baylor Hospital explained the importance of volunteer work and benefits for handicapped persons. Special education, mental retardation, and health services were discussed.

The club was led by president Amy Mims, secretary-treasurer Lorraine Shipley, and historian Leslie DeHay. Mrs. H. A. Hubbard and Mrs. B. J. Snodgrass were faculty sponsors.

HEALTH CAREERS CLUB

Cactus plants pull 'stick-up' in lunchroom

Decorating the cafeteria with plants was the Biology Club's first project. Members collected house plants and fixed up flower boxes to brighten up the lunchroom.

Using the biology courtyard as a scoreboard, club members kept track of the successful football season by nailing the score on the brick wall each week.

The club combined business and pleasure on an educational campout at Possum Kingdom Lake, where they made first-hand inspections of plant and animal life. A canoe trip on the Guadalupe River topped off the year.

Co-sponsors Mrs. Ethel Forman and Miss Susan Hall helped president Janie Carpenter lead the 48-member club with the other officers, include Bonnie Peters, Debbie Baze, Renee Downs, Trip Stewart, John Guffey, and Alicia Rubi.

FIELD & STREAM CLUB

With warm spring weather in sight, the Field and Stream club scheduled a deep-sea fishing trip off Padre Island and a fishing trip to Lake Murval.

During the cold winter months, members practiced their shooting ability at the Dallas Gun Club's private target range. Canoeing on the Guadalupe River was another highlight field trip for the Field and Stream Club.

Speaker Bob Narramore from a canoe rental agency showed the club some of the advantages and disadvantages of kayaking. The club also invited experts on boating and on guns as guest lecturers.

Mr. Dave McElwee and Mr. William Greer sponsored the 80-member club. Darrell Lane presided as president, with help from vice-president Doug Singleton, treasurer Jake Allen, and secretary Kevin Roberts.

Q&S members elect officers at 'sub' party

Quill and Scroll, a national honor society for student journalists, elected officers at a supper at the home of Marcia Haynes.

The chapter, sponsored by Mrs. Reyburn Myers, was led by president Ann Berry, vice-president Susan Aston, secretary Delaney Murchison and treasurer Mike McNamara.

To qualify as a Quill and Scroll member, a student must be ranked in the top third of his class, must have served on a publication staff for at least two trimesters, and must have a recommendation from his sponsor.

Initiation of new members was planned for the spring trimester.

MU ALPHA THETA

Math clubbers tutor students, attend contests

Tutoring other students in math gave Mu Alpha Theta members an opportunity to raise money. The tutors earned four dollars an hour, of which one dollar went to the club treasury.

Nearby contests kept competitive mathematicians busy. In November, Mu Alpha Theta members received a rating of seventh out of 32 schools at a math contest at Richardson High School.

The 18 members stayed busy in February with a math contest at Dallas Baptist College. Club officers also attended the Mu Alpha Theta State Convention at Skyline High School.

Members were led by president David Hodge, vice-president Bobby Bullington, secretary Shannon Sayles, and treasurer Philip Franklin. Sponsors were Miss Gail Watkins and Miss Ann White.

Guitar players hold assembly to raise funds

Guitar club members tuned up for the organization's third year of existence.

Most of the 30 members had their own guitars and took them to the bi-monthly meetings. "Their interests consist of everything from the Beatles to Beethoven," observed sponsor Dr. Lawrence Puckett. Participants divided up and formed folk groups, pop groups, and classical groups; and then took turns performing for each other.

The club entertained at an assembly in February to raise money. In the spring, Dr. Puckett arranged to have the club members attend several seminars held by professional musicians. This gave them good exposure and introduced them to the possibility of future vocations.

President Steve Benten, vice-president Allen Cohen, and secretary Nancy Cantwell led the club activities during meetings.

SPANISH CLUB

Slide shows, skits, and Spanish song singing provided Spanish Club members with programs for their meetings on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month. Club members learned about Spanish food and customs.

President of the club Frances Ellis, along with vice-president Jeannie Smith, led the aspiring Spaniards. The enthusiastic Spanish students held a bake sale and used the money they raised for holiday parties and lunch at a local Mexican restaurant. Sponsors Mrs. Eleanora Guzman, and Mrs. Cheryl Schilling helped the officers.

French Club turns gourmet at restaurant

Dinner at a French restaurant gave French Club members a chance to sample such gourmet dishes as Quiche Lorraine and Beef Tournedos.

Members had another chance to satisfy their gourmet appetites during their progressive dinner hosted at both Mollie Garrett's and Betsy Hochstim's houses.

Club activities included playing French bingo and a French version of "Go Fish." Instead of matching the numbers of the cards, they matched the names of occupations which were written on the cards.

Although the members found playing games in a foreign language confusing, they met the challenge and muddled through.

Jim Pike gave a film presentation of his trip to France. He went on a choir tour last summer and sang in the cathedral of Notre Dame and Chartres and the chapel at Versailles.

The 34-member club sponsored by Miss Eileen Steensen was headed by president Betsy Hochstim, vice-president Susan Winn, secretary-treasurer Jennifer Ladd, and historian Suzanna Hart.

Trips to a German delicatessen and parties where German pastries were served offered a "Deutsch" treat to German club members.

The German Club's bi-weekly programs included German sing-songs and films on Germany. History teacher Mr. John Hanscom made several guest-speaker appearances also.

Students who were taking German and those who were interested in the language joined the club. In addition to discussing German influence in America, club members learned more about customs, foods, and traditions that exist in Germany today. Instructions on how to order German foods proved helpful to travelers who planned trips to Europe during summer.

The German Club was sponsored by Mrs. Sylvia McElroy and headed by Steve Biggers as president, Arvin Combs as vice-president, and Lydia Wilson as secretary-treasurer.

Certamen team gains awards, recognition

Members of the Latin Club Chris Hewitt, Susan Raines, Pandora Dysart, and Helen Harrison formed Highland Park's first Certamen team.

This team, which is asked questions on Latin grammar and Mythology and competes against teams from other schools, participated in the regional convention in Sherman in February. Martha Brabham, David Williams, Brent Buchanan, Martin Murray, and Diane Peabody went to the state convention in Amarillo in March.

Chris Hewitt and Nancy Watson served as presidents of the club. Programs for their meetings on the second and fourth Wednesdays of each month were organized by David Williams and Susan Raines, program chairmen.

Other officers of the club were Linda Buchanan, treasurer and Stephanie Lane, secretary. Sponsor Miss Sharon Hooper helped the club organize and plan meetings and activities.

In the spring, the Roman life-style was the theme for an end-of-the-year banquet where the members dressed in Roman clothing.

The 25 members of the club learned the basic principles of photography, beginning with the composition of pictures.

Roving photographers from the group roamed the halls during advisory to capture candid happenings around school. After learning how to take pictures, the members then practiced developing and processing film.

A bake sale in February enabled the club to purchase their own equipment for film processing.

The executive committee of president Bill Collins, vice-president Allan Gahagan, secretary Ann Ward, and student council representative Craig Clarke worked with sponsor Mr. Anthony Waters to plan field trips to the zoo and Botanical Gardens in Fort Worth.

Chess games, tournaments improve skills

Tournaments, projects, and speakers kept chess club members pondering their next moves.

Members enjoyed the fellowship of other chess fans as they learned the basics and some of the fine points of the traditional game of skill and strategy.

The club, inactive for several years, was renewed by the enthusiasm of chairman Rick Thompson. Mrs. Mary Dillard sponsored the group. When not learning the fundamentals of chess, the members were entertained by speakers such as Sgt. John A. McNiece, of the R.O.T.C.

Led by dedicated president Tom Woolum, vice-president Van Williamson, and treasurer Steve LaPrade, the club raised funds by selling buttons in support of the basketball team.

NFL members gain points, capture wins

Competitive "speechers" sought points earned by speech tournaments, debates, and extracurricular service projects to gain National Forensic League membership.

NFL members enjoyed Mexican food at Susan Dunn's Christmas party. A banquet was slated for May with president Richard Sparr, vice-president Stan Keith, secretary Diane Carlson, treasurer Kathryn Kaufman, and Student Council representative Anne Aldredge relinquishing their offices to newly-elected officers.

The National Forensic League, an honorary speech organization, ranks its members at different levels. Degrees of Merit, Honor, Excellence, Distinction, and Double Ruby are obtained with 25, 75, 150, 250, and 500 points. Points are also compiled by speech coaches.

Speakers give presentations to travelers

Glimpses of foreign culture tempted Travel Club members as students told of some of their recent vacation ventures.

Liz Race spoke of her experiences on a European tour. She emphasized her stay in Munich, Germany, expressing her surprise that there were still strong after effects of World War II apparent in the city. She visited a concentration camp and observed that the city had been completely rebuilt after the war.

Miss Nancy Erhart, Travel Club sponsor and Mrs. Chester Plumlee's student teacher and Kay Keeland shared notes and memories of their trips to Japan.

Co-secretary Amy Titus presented a slide show of pictures taken in Colorado during the disastrous flood last summer.

Claire Shelmire visited the Virgin Islands on a 112-foot boat and showed the club home movies of her trip. She described the volcanic islands as some of the most beautiful in the world.

Dan Carney, who lived a year in India, gave a detailed slide presentation and discussion of that country. He said that he got to know the Indians well by going to school with them and thoroughly enjoyed his association with them.

Co-Presidents Paul Rush and Barbara Giles ran the club assisted by co-reporters Carol Collie and Claire Shelmire.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

NHS members mix parties with studies

The National Honor Society initiation added nine new members to the 33 returned from last year.

The candle-lighting ceremony was held September 21 in the small auditorium.

Mrs. Cloriene Barrett served as NHS sponsor for her fourth year, with the assistance of president Robert Ruff, vice-president Marsha Thompson, secretary Jan Jordan, and treasurer Mollie Garrett.

Membership in the society was based on leadership, ability, character, scholarship, and school service. To become eligible for the society, a junior was required to hold a 7.0 academic average for the preceding year, and seniors must have maintained a 6.5 average for admission.

The annual dinner and swimming party in the spring honored new members. The National Honor Societh at the Honors Assembly in May presented the Blanket Award to one boy and one girl for outstanding leadership and achievement.

Sabre club raises money for activities

Organizing social activities for the ROTC was the major duty of Sabre Club members.

Under the leadership of president Debbie Baze, vice-president Alice Rice, and secretary David Christner, the club planned and presented the annual Regimental Ball, a formal Christmas party at an area warehouse, and monthly picnics at Flagpole Hill.

To raise money for these projects, the group sold glassware and candy to family and friends.

A Battalion Queen is chosen from the girl cadets. The nominees were Lori Davis, Jackie Owens, Alice Rice, and Cheryl Richardson.

Another responsibility of the Sabre Club was working with the administration in the organization and performance of fire drills, done under the supervision of sponsor Colonel Joe Hill.

Failure to meet membership requirements caused the ROTC to be put on probation this year, pending consideration by the Third ROTC Region at Fort Riley in Kansas.

Colonel Joe Hill and Sergeant John McNiece instructed the 64 cadets in the arts of riflery, drills, and leadership. Setting an example for the corps to follow were Battalion Staff officers Robert Grammer, Debbie Baze, Clay DeVaney, Lisa Ward, and Dub Thomas. ROTC band members, led by Drum Major Jim Clark, accompanied cadets in their Thursday morning drills.

ROTC cadets attended a summer training camp in Fort Sill, Oklahoma, in preparation for the many competitive events scheduled during the year. The corps entered the State Fair competition in October, where officers Robert Grammer, Debbie Baze, Clay DeVaney, and Lisa Ward served in President Ford's honor guard. In Dallas County competition, the men's drill team won sweepstakes. The ROTC also entered metroplex competition in mid-February and state competition in late March.

ROTC placed on probation, pending military consideration

Highlighting the year's activities, the annual Federal Inspection was held March 1.

Battalion Commander Robert Grammer crowned Jackie Owens Battalion Queen at the ROTC Regimental Ball February 25. The queen was elected from a group of four princesses nominated from the corps. Serving as princesses were Lori Davis, Alice Rice, and Cheryl Richardson. A fund-raising assembly February 4 helped finance the military ball.

Strong class unity and school pride characterized the 1977 student body in spite of a six per cent drop in enrollment. Projections for the future designed to accommodate a predicted increase in class enrollment were outlined in a multi-million dollar bond issue passed last spring.

Freshmen express outstanding spirit in first pep rally

Incoming freshmen found the quadrangular high school floor plan somewhat more difficult to untangle than the familiar corridors of McCullough Middle School.

After they finished getting lost while hunting classrooms, lockers, and restrooms, freshmen Ellen Wiggins and Todd Farrell still found time to be themselves, as they were voted "friendliest" at the Beginnings Dance September 3.

The week of August 30-September 3 found Gage Prichard and Grace Chandler acting as Freddie and Frieda Freshmen. Lucky-guessing Leah McGowin and Alison Stone received four dinner passes to a local restaurant for deciphering the secret identities. The girls were relieved after asking "everyone they could think of."

Student Council members-at-large David Davis and David White headed the Freedoms Foundation and Caravan Committees as 15 Freshmen Representatives served on the Publicity, Social, and Caravan Committees.

To boost the spirit of the freshman class, cheerleaders Amy Aldredge, Laurie Dunlap, Vicky Hexter, Susan Jones, Marcie Kirby, Lynn Mount, Anne Snider and Alison Stone whooped it up at pep rallies, decorated rooms, lockers and houses and took the football players out to dinner.

The newly-formed girls volleyball team boasted four freshmen with other frosh as members of the track and swimming teams.

Clubs also offered attraction to the 384 freshmen, who involved themselves in the various activities.

Sophomore year brings 'rat cuts' to Pigskin players

Summer proved to be eventful for the 429 members of the class of '79. Barbara Carpenter spent two memorable weeks in the jungles of Kenya, Africa. Terri Cunningham vacationed a week in Hawaii soaking up the rays of the hot sun.

Summer jobs proved more effective bait for three energetic sophomore boys. "Babysitter" Malcolm Ross spent his whole summer counseling five-year olds at Camp Stewart while Son Fulgham and Dean Miller found the grass greener on other people's lawns as they pushed lawn mowers to earn extra cash.

"Scots Got Pride!" chanted the B-team cheerleaders as they cheered their teams on to a victorious season. Earning the spirit stick this summer at S.M.U. cheerleading camp were B-team cheerleaders Mary Ann Bell, Carolyn Hurt, Mary Ann Pittman, Kaki Roach, Charlotte Turner, and Carolyn Wagner.

Lott McIlhenny put in extra hours of hard work as the only sophomore on the Varsity football team. Louis Fugua helped manage the team. Luckless sophomore football players received traditional air-cooled "rat-hair-cuts."

Offices filled by sophomores included Jeanne Barker and Pris Shytles as Student Council members-at-large, serving as heads of publicity and eligibility. Ginger Bell, Judy Claman, Janie Donosky, and Jamie Holloway sold ads for the Highlander.

TOP: Senior football players Greg Sims and Doug Chesnut take pride in a job well done as they shave off sophomore Danny Presley's curly locks.
BOTTOM: Taking her first step toward college, Ginny Hudson buys her PSAT ticket.

FAST-MOVING FOOSBALL works up the appetites of Kent Umphress and Fred Skidmore.

Boys rent tuxedos, go to formal dances in stylish manner

JUNIORS

Escaping the hum-drum hohums of a hot Dallas summer, juniors headed for distant parts of the world, as Katrina Case, Laura Elliott, Leslie Little, Charlotte Moore, Margie Presley, and Becky Propst traveled through Europe with the First Baptist Church Bicentennial Choir.

Howdy Week and the start of a new year brought juniors back to the books. Friendliest juniors announced at the "Beginnings" dance September 3, were Tori Thomas and Bart Irby. Super Scot Spies Deb Nicoud and Ricky Herrcher sneaked around the school until Jennifer Phillips revealed their true identities.

Louis Hexter and Simone Myers represented their class on the Student Council. Junior class officers who organized the Junior-Senior Prom were Jeff Barnes as president, with vice-president Cissy Hudson, secretary Julie Worthen, and treasurer Leslie Little assisting him.

Juniors contributed to school spirit by putting special efforts into banners, handing out favors to the players at pep rallies, and giving a Homecoming party for the junior football players.

Juniors displayed their athletic ability as thirty guys were added to the Varsity football team, fifteen to the Junior Varsity, six to the Varsity basketball team and five to the Varsity baseball team. Other juniors joined the golf, soccer, swimming, tennis, and track teams plus the newly-organized girl's volleyball team. Thirty-nine juniors on the Spirit Committee decorated the gym, boosted school spirit at pep rallies and attended home and out-of-town games.

Juniors were up on the school scoops, relaying the latest news in each edition of the Bagpipe. Sherri Hewett and Cissy Hudson held the positions of associate editors of the Highlander staff, and other eleventh graders helped with workcrew.

TOP: Junior class officers Cissy Hudson, Jeff Barnes, Julie Worthen, and Leslie Little (seated) prepare for an old-time night on the town.

21 semi-finalists receive honor for test scores

SENIORS

"RAGTIME" SENIOR OFFICERS Sally Tubb, Bobby Bullington, John Buckley, and Doug Hurt play away the hours until a Good Time Graduation.

Spending much of the year with college preparations, the Senior class of 1977 wound up their four years at Highland Park with a wide range of activities and honors.

Scholastically, 21 seniors gained the rank of National Merit Semi-Finalists along with 20 commendees. Nine new members of the National Honor Society were installed in September. Out of 397 class members, 98 enrolled for advanced placement courses.

The National Council of Teachers of English named Robert Ruff and former Scot Ruth Copeland as finalists in the 1976 Achievement award in writing competition.

Shannon Sayles and Richard Sparr had leading roles along with 30 other cast members who presented The Man Who Came to Dinner as the senior play.

Seniors also participated in the school musical Oklahoma.

Making college plans, many seniors spent weekends visiting prospective universities. The University of Texas at Austin, University of Oklahoma, A&M University, Vanderbilt, SMU, and the University of Mississippi were some of the favorite target campuses.

Class elections in February resulted in two run-offs with John Buckley winning the presidency and Bobby Bullington taking the vice-president's spot. Sally Tubb organized senior activities as secretary and Doug Hurt was treasurer.

Super senior women spend Friday nights eating, playing games

SENIORS

Blue baseball caps with gold emblems gave spirited senior women a new note of distinction.

Devoting much of their time to support the football team, Kyle England, Holli Hanley, Jill McKenzie, and Lyn Tucker organized many of the football-oriented activities such as decorating players' houses, rooms, and lockers, and planning victory parties. Promotion of baseball caps was also one of their key projects.

Senior girls exhibited outstanding academic achievements as well as exuberant spirit. The National Merit Scholarship Corporation named 10 girls as semifinalists, and 13 girls as recipients of a letter of commendation. Debbie Baze received the President's Scholar Award, a $1,250 scholarship for four years to Texas A&M University.

Other achievements by senior girls were noted in the athletic department. Girls' volleyball made its debut at Highland Park, finishing with a second place tie with Wilmer-Hutchins at the end of their district season. Cathy Goetz, Lucinda Lowry, and Lisa Tinkle led the girls' track team to a state rank of third. Girls' swim team captain Kira Rathjen, along with Ginger Gill, Mary Harrell, and Stephanie Lane, splashed to a good start in early December and January meets.

Salado, Texas, was the setting for a November band event featuring Highland dancing and bagpiping competitions. Kathy Leake won a first place in sword dance and sailor's hornpipe, and Catherine Cantwell's kilt dance received a third place rating.

Theatre-goers were impressed with the dramatic talents of Shannon Sayles, Diane Carlson, and Claire Shelmire in the Senior Class play The Man Who Came To Dinner. Choral activities got underway after Jan Oliver was announced as the lead female role in Oklahoma!

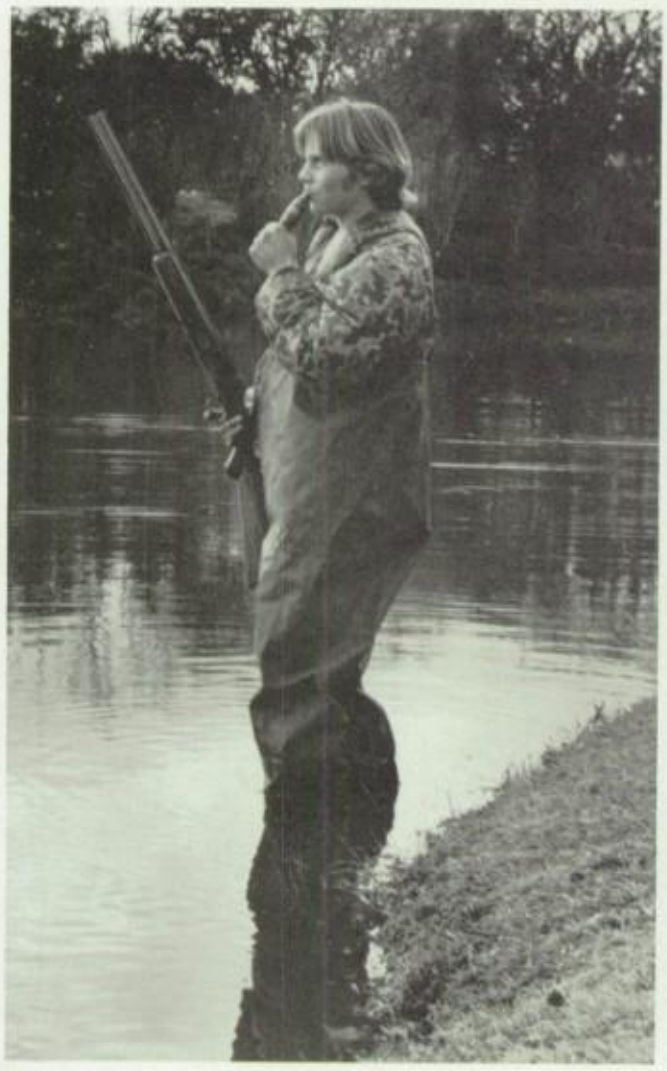
Active senior boys give victory speech, enjoy hunting season



Senior boys displayed their talents in areas ranging from academics to sports, representing their school in many contests and competitions.

Ten smart senior boys were named National Merit Scholarship Corporation semifinalists, and seven more were NMSC commendees. Scott Davis, one of the semifinalists, won a scholarship to Texas A&M University.

Unusual hobbies included those of Kevin Hamilton, John Meador and John Hoover. Kevin took pictures and shot short-subject movies. John Meador fed and raised a 900-pound Santa Gertrudis steer to enter in contests at the State Fair. John Hoover bicycled around Dallas, practicing for contests which he planned to enter.

Richard Sparr was the male lead in the Senior Play The Man Who Came to Dinner. Sam Manning joined the ranks of royalty with the title of Hi-Lite King.

The football team just missed taking the State playoffs. Scott Smith, Marc Snyder, Bobby Day, and many other senior players were commended for their excellent performances. Several boys were chosen for the first team in state. Senior members of the basketball squad also helped their team take many hard-fought victories.

Chris Hewitt, Pat Rice, Jack Hanneman and David Hodge represented Highland Park in a math contest sponsored by Mu Alpha Theta at Richardson High School. The team placed seventh out of 32 which entered.

Battalion Commander Cadet Major Robert Grammer led the ROTC to victories in marching contests.

Mike McNamara served as president of the Lads and Lassies choir, and brought the choir through with flying colors in UIL contests.

PEDAL POWER ENABLES Lissie Miller to beat the energy crisis as she makes a bank deposit at a local drive-in window via bicycle.

Despite the yo-yo syndrome of the national economy, inflation must have had a beneficial effect on Highlander sales, as the total reached a record-breaking 92 percent of the student body. Increased ad sales also promised to surpass last year's record figure.

Dear Piper,

this hasn't really been that great a year for you and I. I wouldn't mind starting our whole friendship over again fresh during Summer. We better see each other like we were the buddies we used to be. No matter how I act, if I'm rude, a smart-ass, or whatever I do care & in a weird way I love you too. I apologize for being such a bitch, but then again that's what happens when your pride has been hurt. I am truly happy you're on Varsity, good luck, I will always yell for you and you will be the most special player on the team in my eyes. Please call me this summer, and don't worry because nothing will be Serious. I still want you to come Skiing with dad & I, and if you don't call me I'm sure as hell calling you.

Till we meet during summer.

Love,

Casey

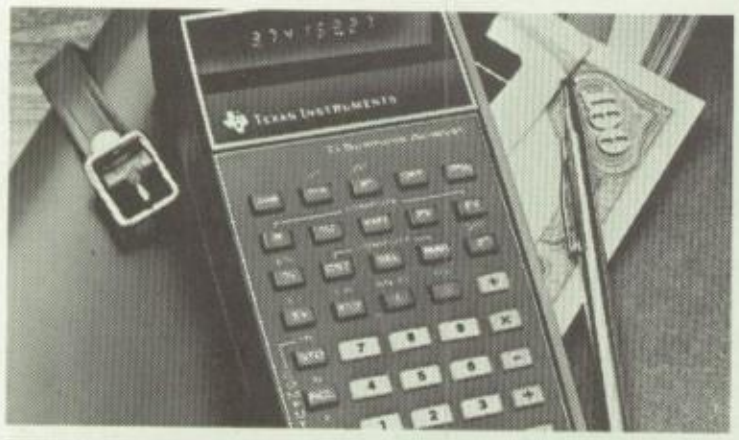
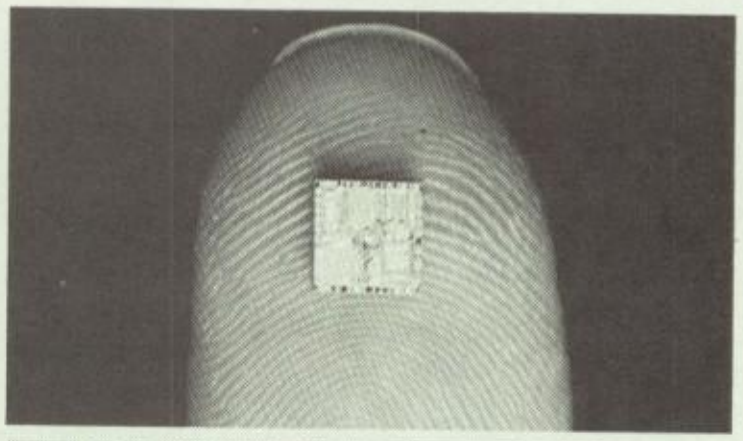
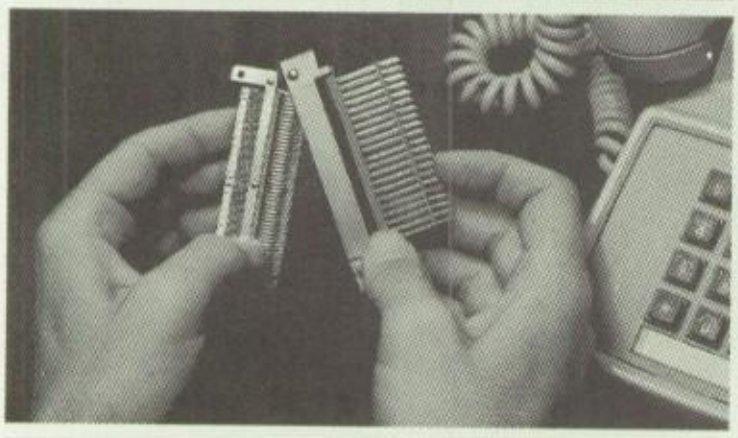
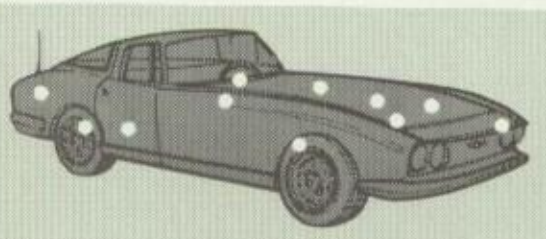
TI technology is all around you.









TI is all around you when you drive. Our electronic devices and electrical controls are in the radio, alternator, lighting system, ignition, and skid control. Our clad metals are in the exterior trim, transmission, choke control, windshield wipers, brake tubing, and battery cable, for example.

Improving your comfort, safety, productivity and quality of life.

Electronics has revolutionized your life in a few short years. And TI semiconductor technology has revolutionized electronics.

TI technology is all around you. It may be as visible as our watches and calculators. But TI innovation also is deep in the heart of controls for home appliances. Data terminals and computers in your home, office and plant. Radar at your airport. Components and electronic systems in automobiles, aircraft, missiles and space vehicles. Clad metals for thermostats, pens and pencils, telephone connectors, auto trim. And around the world in new oil-finding geophysical techniques.

TI's growth from less than $3 million to nearly $1.4 billion in annual sales in three decades was the result of major investments in new technologies. Our goal is to make that $10 billion annually by the late 1980s, and continue changing your life for the better.

Someday is here.

The Southwest's most active yacht club, as seen from Chandlers Landing marina.

Someday, you told yourself, someone will use imagination and build an exciting nautical community on Lake Ray Hubbard, that big beautiful lake on the edge of Dallas. An out of the ordinary place that's not out of the way. So close to downtown you have time for boating, water skiing and fishing after you get home from the office.

Someday is here. Welcome to Chandlers Landing.

We have lovely hillside homesites, priced $10,000 to $40,000. A perfect location for your dream house. We have luxurious homes, beginning at $47,750. See our furnished models. We have one of the largest full service marinas* in the Southwest. We have a fabulous yacht club* with dining, boating, tennis and swimming facilities.

Chandlers Landing marks the end of the big weekend. And the beginning of the big week.

Someday is here.

The land. Beautiful when we found it. Beautiful still.

America's Cup model home, one of the luxurious ways to live at Chandlers Landing.

Beautiful waterfront swimming pool.

THE AMERICAN T-TOP IS NOW AVAILABLE AT OVER 170 INSTALLATION CENTERS COAST TO COAST

American Hatch is #1 because of quality and service. All backed by a transferable warranty.

It's the kind of quality you can see and feel. The safety glass is solid, not laminated, but oven tempered and tinted. The exclusive stainless steel edge guards are actually bonded to the glass.

It's the kind of service you can depend on. One day installation. Each of our 170 service centers have installers trained and certified at our national service center school.

If you want the best insist on American Hatch.

Pryor,
This year has been so much fun & I'm glad I got to see you & talk to you as much as I did. Shari's house on all those weekends were so much fun! (Better then driving around all night). You really are a great guy & I hope I can see you alot this summer. Just think - next year we will be "Upper Classmen", Wont that be great!! Good luck in the future w/ football, I know you'll be Fantastic.

LOVE YA,

Well - we made it through our big soph year.. I can't believe its already over! It really has been great I'm sorry I didn't see much of you. Remember the 6th grade w/ old Miss Gibbs That class was just a blast. Well - have a great summer and stay out of trouble. I still think you ought to take a date up to Jack Sines' farm when he has a party! I'll see you up there.

Pryor,
This is the first year that I've known you, I'm not sure what to think. You are a neat person to talk to. If you & Cheistian Heandon decide to party together make sure you know what you are doing. Sometime during the summer or next year we should go out & party with each other, just for fun. Stay out of trouble this summer & be careful.

Love always

Pryor—

It was fun racing you to advisory so we wouldn't get rufferals. You're a super guy & I hope over the summer we can become better friends. Good luck next year in football, I know we'll have a winning season! Have a great summer & hope to see ya alot!

They said it couldn't be done; but somehow it finally was . . .

Volume 54 of The Highlander was printed by Taylor Publishing Company of Dallas, Texas. The 336 pages are printed in 21 16-page signatures, Smyth sewn, with headbands. 80-pound enamel paper was used in the 1520 copies printed.

Body, headline, and caption type throughout the book is Helvetica (Helvetica Medium for headlines). Prisma type is used in the cover design and division pages, and Eurostile Bold is used to identify organizations and academics.

Marine blue, special yellow, and russet brown are used for spot colors in the opening section and on division pages and end sheets.

Our thanks go to Bradley Photographers for their help in most group pictures of organizations and athletics, and Kincaid Photo Service and Custom Color Corporation for the processing of our color and black-and-white film. We would like to recognize Mrs. Kay Giese, our Taylor Representative, Miss Diane Cook, our sponsor, and Mr. Jim Alexander of Taylor Publishing Company for his advice.

Our sincere appreciation is extended to Mark Bryson for his excellent photography, The American Heritage College Dictionary for help in theme development, and to the members of the Aston family for their continued patience and weekly contributions of doughnuts and hamburgers at workcrews.

Year ends in accelerated motion

BOTTOM: Mimi Vornholt subtly expresses her critique on cafeteria food.
OPPOSITE PAGE BOTTOM: Perseverance in studies offers a continuous challenge for Shannon Sayles.

Perseverance — (pur-se-vi′-rens) a continued or repetitive activity or motion.

Perseverance is a challenging force, a holding to a course of action without giving way. It is an action that yields only to greater opportunities. Momentum and action are integral to our lives; initiating new ideas that materialize into changes, practices, and later traditions.

Action breaks as momentum continues

CO-EDITORS Delaney Murchison and Susan Aston, co-business managers Robert Neely and Martha Flagg, and photography editor Mark Bryson take a work-break in their luxurious and spacious office in active downtown Dallas.

Pryor,
This year has been great!
C'mon we finally made it through mrs. Watkins class + getting yelled at every single day! Oh well-
I'm glad we were in math together 'cause it gave me a chance to get to know you better. You're a cool guy + so stud. Hope to see ya this summer!
If you don't get an N this time I'll die!
Love,
Lisa
P.S. It's Private!

Pryor,
I had a fantastic time
at J.S.B, especially watching that lady swing.
Everytime I'm with U have the best time
because you are so considerate. Next time
there's a midnight movie let's go! OK? Thanks for everything you have done for me. Please come
by this summer!
Love ya tons,
Robyn

Pryor-
Homemaking has been a blast. It figures mrs Akinwald retire as soon as we get rid of her. You're really lucky to have been next to hang around w/. But your a lousy hitter when your trying to throw a water balloon. Stay cool. Love ya Patti
P.S. Sorry we never did get together on the treble in Akin!

Pryor, you ninny! Rooster has been great this year. Good luck in football next year and I hope I never see you this summer - Mike

Pryor,
Spanish was a blast. You sure LOOKED UP THE TIME WE WENT OUT TOO EAT. HAVE A BLAST THIS SUMMER.
JAMES

K.M. P.272

Pryor,
I appreciate your friendship while I needed it as I'll always remember you and your family.
Josh

HEY Pryor to the time we met I thought you were
A CRAZY — — — NOW
I KNOW it. 2 TAY free-MPeeling
Cool, AND SAGE-20 pig!
KARL

HARRY P.
You've been great in Mrs. Porath's class. You've kept me awake anyway. I hope you can be in some of my classes next year to perk them up, too. Have a good Summer and take it easy. Hope to see you around at some parties or something.
TAKE IT EASY,
JOHN MARTIN

Pryor,
This year has been a blast especially getting to go out with you - that was so much fun. Have a blast this summer- I hope I see ya'. Next year you'll be the best lookin' junior jock!
Love always,
Janna

Pryor,
Homemaking was a pair in the ass, but we made it. Have fun. I mean fun this summer. Have a few long ones.
P.S.- It was fun counting yours (7½") Randy.

Pryor,
hey dude what's going on? Listen - it's been great having you in my English class, you have raised some hell. your brother Rebel is in my Junior English class, he raises hell also, he's a blast and so are you. Keep up the good work and have a fantastic summer. and stay sweet.
